DELHI ARREST DRAMA

ENTIRE MEETING DETAINED

New Delhi, Apr. 24.

The firm hand has seldom been shown in India with more dramatic effect than at New Delhi today when the Indian National Congress attempted to hold its annual session in spite of official prohibition.

Every delegate who reached the meeting place and a great many who did not, were placed under arrest.

Over 600 Arrests.

The police soon got wind of the meeting and speedily intervened, arresting every participant, totaling about 150.

Later in the day, a further 219

Children are being exploited to further the boycott movement as the above picture, taken in Bombay, shows.

arrests were made, bringing up the total of arrests in the past four days in connexion with the Congress to 630.

Prior to the intervention of the police in the meeting, the participants of which claimed to be an open meeting of the forty-seventh session of the Indian National Congress, the gathering adopted several resolutions.

Congress Goal.

One of the resolutions passed reaffirmed that the goal of Congress is complete independence for India and expressing confidence in the Mahatma Gandhi as the sole Dictator.

The meeting also approved of the resolution passed by the Working Committee of Congress in Bombay, regarding the re-launching of the civil disobedience movement and the boycott of British goods.

MANCHURIA INSURGENTS' ORGY

GARRISON LOSE FIERCE FIGHT

Harbin, Apr. 25.

A wild orgy of looting and destruction followed a successful attack by Kirin insurgents on the town of Sanchae, thirteen miles to the north of Taiaicho, yesterday morning.

A goods train which was passing the station was fired upon and immediately afterwards brought to destruction, two Russian members of the train crew being killed and three seriously injured.

The insurgents entered the city of Sanchae without meeting with resistance, pretending when challenged that they were troops loyal to the Manchukuo Government. They were a party of over a thousand strong and were described as "demoralised."

STREET FIGHTING.

As soon as they were within the city walls, they attacked the Manchukuo garrison and a heavy street fighting, in which machine-guns played a prominent part, followed.

After a bitter fight lasting over two hours, in which over fifty were killed and four or five times that number wounded, the defenders were defeated and routed and fled.

The raiders then proceeded to a systematic looting of the city, the terrible outrages being committed. They paid attention first to the ill at the railway station, taking everything away.

Heavy fire was opened upon a goods train which attempted to pass the station. Those aboard emerged unscathed from this ordeal, but the train was soon afterwards derailed owing to the removal of the fish-plates.

CRASH OVER EMBANKMENT.

The locomotive and twelve wagons crashed down an embankment and were absolutely wrecked, while other cars were badly damaged.

Owing to the fact that the telegraph wires have been cut, news of the mishap did not reach Harbin until 8.30 p.m. last night, upon which a breakdown train was immediately despatched to the scene. —Reuter.

Ballantine, American Consul-General, and Mrs. Ballantine, Dr. Jose Luis Archer, Portuguese Consul-General, and Mrs. Archer, Mr. Y. The host gave a toast to the Consular Body, to which the Senior Consul, Dr. Wagner, replied, expressing his sincere good wishes for the welfare and prosperity of the Government and Republic of China.—Our Own Correspondent.

THE DR. KOO RIDDLE

WILL POSSIBLY BE LEFT BEHIND

Shanghai, Apr. 25.

A distinct possibility that Dr. Wellington Koo will be left behind by the League Commission is mentioned in this morning's China Press, in a despatch from its Mukden correspondent.

It is believed, the message states, that tremendous embarrassment has been caused to the League Commission by Dr. Koo's presence, and it is felt that it is unnecessary and hampering for the investigation of the situation in Manchuria.

FACE SAVED.

It is felt that as Dr. Wellington Koo has already saved his face by setting foot on Manchurian soil, it does not matter if he does not accompany Lord Lytton and his colleagues any further.

The Manchukuo Government is at present communicating with the League of Nations regarding Dr. Wellington Koo, despite the fact that it cannot possibly be recognised by the League, at this juncture at all events.—Reuter.

JAPANESE CLUB RAIDED

LOTTERY TICKETS SEIZED

A billiards championship tournament at the Japanese Seafarers' Club at 90, Johnstone Road, Wanchai, was interrupted last night by the entry of a police party, who, proceeding under a gambling warrant, searched the premises. They were handed a number of books of what appeared to be lottery tickets.

Before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, Naohito Tanaka, Manager of the Club, was charged with a breach of the Gaming Ordinance by the unlawful possession of lottery tickets. He admitted possession.

Mr. T. Murphy, A.S.P., stated that the police visit resulted from information. Two billiards tables were in use, with some thirty Japanese gathered around, and it appeared that the tickets in question had some bearing on a billiards tournament of which last night was the closing night. No other tickets were found besides those kept in two desks, which were handed over of his own accord by the defendant.

Some 300 tickets were admitted to in circulation amongst members of the Japanese community. Although there was no evidence, Mr. Murphy observed, that the lottery was not being openly circulated, the police nevertheless took a serious view. Mr. Murphy referred to the maximum fine allowed by Ordinance as $1,000.

His Worship inflicted a fine of $100, and ordered the confiscation

Public Garden Reservoir

Area Being Put to Practical Use

GOOD PROGRESS

No-one visiting the lower terrace of the Botanical Gardens at the present time would imagine that six months ago the area was one of the most attractive spots in Hongkong—a magnificent stretch of well-kept turf, varied with beds of flowering plants and shrubs. To-day, as will be seen by the above picture, it resembles a huge crater studded with reinforced concrete pillars and steel work.

What has actually transpired is that the whole of this part of the Gardens has been dug up in order to make room for a spacious service reservoir in which will be stored millions of gallons of water brought across from Shing Mun by the cross-harbour pipeline. When the work is completed, the garden will be restored—but with the new reservoir underneath it.

Big Headway.

Work on the new reservoir was started in September last, and, as will be seen by our photograph, big headway is being made. Involving a cost of approximately a quarter of a million dollars, the reservoir is to occupy an area of 270 feet in length, 180 feet in width and 16 feet 6 inches in depth. Its capacity will be five million gallons of water.

The reservoir is to be divided into two approximately equal compartments by a gravity section division wall 10 feet 3 inches in height. The water, which will be filtered, will be kept pure by a reinforced concrete roof, supported by no fewer than 242 piers. The roof is also composed of cement concrete to be laid in bays generally speaking of a length and width of 15 feet and 12 feet respectively, with "V" joints. Provision is also being made for inlets and outlets and control houses.

Restoration Later.

The unique feature of the scheme is that when the reservoir has been constructed, the Botanical Gardens will re-assume, more or less, their former appearance, laid out with nice flower beds and shrubbery, giving little outward sign of their being put to a more utilitarian use.

The flower garden will cover an area of no less than 100,000 square feet, while the slopes will be turfed.

The contractors are Messrs. Yee Lee, who constructed Gloucester Building, and the undertaking is being supervised by the Waterworks Construction Department of the P.W.D.

ENTERTAINMENT TAX PROTEST

LONDON PLANS ACTION

(Reuter's Special Service).

London, Apr. 24.

The heavy losses suffered by the cinema trade since the emergency budget of last year increased the Entertainments Tax have at last stirred the exhibitors to strong protest.

There is a possibility that practically every cinema in the country may soon be closed for twenty-four hours as a mark of indignation of the entertainments tax upon cinema seats priced up to 6d.

So serious has been the effect of this tax on box office receipts that the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association, in a statement issued to-day, express fear that five hundred cinema theatres may have to close down permanently.

PARIS PRECEDENT.

The Association has decided to send representatives to Paris next week to investigate the effects of the recent tax strike, which closed all places of entertainment in Paris.

Mr. Reginald Crow, ex-President of the Association, in an interview said that the cinema trade agreed to the imposition of the tax as a wartime measure and every Chancellor of the Exchequer since had promised that it would be removed at the first opportunity.

PROFIT TURNED TO LOSS.

The tax had turned the profits of many theatres into losses. The difference in profit and loss, on which income tax would have to be collected, or would have to be repaid, amounted to at least £3,500,000 per annum since the Entertainments Tax had been

Meningitis Victim At Large

ESCAPES FROM HOSPITAL

A most unusual occurrence was reported to the police this morning when the matron of the Isolation Hospital at Kennedy Town notified that a Chinese patient, suffering from meningitis, escaped from the institution.

It appears that the man, who is of the coolie class, named Chun Sam, and aged 26 years, was admitted to the hospital eight days ago, and that he had from the start resented being confined to the institution. In fact, he has on more than one occasion threatened to escape.

He appears to have got out of the institution at about two o'clock this morning, and at the time of his escape he is said to have been wearing hospital clothing.

The man is described as of a burly appearance, and his face, shoulders and arms are covered with rash, an outward evidence of the disease from which he was suffering.

ANZAC DAY CEREMONY

WREATHS LAID ON CENOTAPH

The honour the memory of the men who fought and died on the Gallipoli Peninsula on April 25th, 1915, representatives of the Australian and New Zealand communities in Hongkong gathered in front of the Cenotaph this morning and laid wreaths at the foot of the monument.

Wreaths were also laid on behalf of the South Wales Borderers, the British Legion and the Royal Navy. Despite a heavily overcast sky and a drizzling rain there were more than 100 people present.

The whole ceremony was characterised by impressive simplicity. Two buglers from the South Wales Borderers sounded "The Last Post". As the notes died away, Messrs F. P. Franklin and C. De Saille Robertson, carrying a magnificent wreath on behalf of the Australian and New Zealand communities, walked slowly forward and deposited it at the base of the Cenotaph. On their left was Lieut-Col. A. R. Godwin Austin who carried a wreath on behalf of the South Wales Borderers. The two tributes were laid simultaneously and the three buglers stepped back and stood at attention, the Lieutenant-Colonel saluting.

As they retired, wreaths on behalf of the British Legion and the Royal Navy were borne to the front by Commander E. G. Morris on behalf of the Navy and Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson on behalf of the British Legion.

Lieut. W. R. Miller, Regimental Sgt. Major C. Norma and Sergt. E. R. Jenkins, of the South Wales Borderers, who saw active service at the Dardanelles, were included in the official party.

As the last wreath was laid the buglers sounded the "Reveille". Military and naval members of the party stood at the salute, while the civilians remained bare-headed in silence for two minutes.

HITLER'S TRIUMPH

DIET ELECTIONS RESULTS

ENORMOUS NAZI INCREASES

Berlin, Apr. 24.

Sensational successes by the Nazis all over the country evidence the rapidly with which Hitler is gaining adherents. The elections were the cause of much bitter feeling and fierce faction fights occurred in many places.

One Nazi supporter was shot dead by Communists in Berlin and another Nazi was stabbed to death at Hamburg.

It is believed that these were the only election fatalities, although many people were seriously wounded in the widespread faction fights, which necessitated hundreds of arrests by the police.

PLANE ATTACKED.

Grave trouble had been anticipated and the police were everywhere on duty in full force, many of them armed with carbines.

At Dusseldorf, the pilot of a Nazi propaganda plane made a forced landing and was roughly handled by Communist assailants who attempted to burn his machine.

The result of the election is not finally known, but it has already emerged that the Nazis have secured a brilliant success.

COMMUNIST CONTROL.

In Prussia, eighty per cent. of the votes have been counted, giving the Opposition 186 seats as against 156 for the Government. Of the Opposition seats, 149 are held by the Nazis.

The Communist successes have not been included in the Opposition ranks. The Communists have secured 52 seats and are likely to hold the balance of power in the Diet.

NAZI TRIUMPHS.

The final results of the Diet elections in Bavaria, Anhalt, Hamburg and Wurttemberg show that everywhere the Nazis have made phenomenal gains, while in the still incomplete returns from Prussia, the Nazis have increased their seats from 9 to 160!

The co-operation of their Nationalist allies will enable the Nazis to form the Government in Anhalt, while the attitude of the Centre Party will be the deciding factor in Wurttemberg.

In Hamburg and Bavaria there will be no government change although in Bavaria, the Nazis have doubled their votes.—Reuter.

CONTRACT BRIDGE.

By W. E. McKenney.

Secretary, American Bridge
League.

Partner has practically said that he can support almost any bid that you make, or he can continue with the no trump, therefore if you hold a strong five-card major suit, you should bid three rather than two and partner will either go back to his no trump or will support your bid to four. If you were to bid only two hearts, you would say to partner, "I really believe we will lose less tricks playing this hand at two hearts than you will playing it at one no trump."

Of course, if you were to bid two hearts and that was the only weak spot in partner's hand, he would go two no trump, or he might even jump the contract to three no trump as he knows that you have denied any real supporting strength and he cannot depend upon you to raise his contract of two no trump to three. However, there are very few hands that it pays for partner to go back to no trump as you have denied with a suit, and more especially he should be warned against going to three no trump over your two of a suit bid.

When you overcall partner's original one no trump with three of a major, you advise him that your hand contains a good five-card suit or a very strong four-card major suit, and at least a side ace or king. You further inform partner that you wish him to take you to four of your suit, or if this is the weak spot in his hand, to go to three no trump.

When you take partner out of his original one no trump bid with three of a minor, you show a long minor suit or at least a strong five-card suit with a side ace or king, and you demand that partner carry the contract to three no trump or to support your minor. While it is very seldom that hands of this type will produce five odd with a minor suit where they will not produce three odd at no trump, nevertheless there are a few hands that game can be made only in the minor suit.

When partner opens with an original one no trump and the opponent puts in an intervening suit bid and your hand contains a good four or five-card suit and sufficient strength to support partner's no trump but does not have the suit of the opponents stopped, you should show your suit. This will show partner a hand containing strength and he can select whether to support your suit or, if he has the opponents' suit stopped, to continue with his no trump; e.g. partner bids one no trump, opponent overcalls with two diamonds.

If you bid two hearts, you show partner not a weak two-of-a-suit take out, but a hand containing at least one and one-half quick tricks, but not having the diamonds stopped, and furthermore, your hand is not strong enough to go to three hearts. If partner were now to respond with two no trump, he would be denying support for your heart bid and would be further stating that he had the diamonds stopped. Now if you

MENINGITIS CASES.

QUESTIONS AND RESOLUTION FOR TO-MORROW

The fortnightly meeting of the Sanitary Board will be held to-morrow at 4.15 p.m. The agenda includes the following items:

Letters from Government relative to the amendment of the following By-laws: (a) Aerated Water Manufactories, (b) Dairies, (c) Bakehouses, (d) Laundries, (e) Food-preserving Establishments.

Letter from Government relative to the Conditions of Grant governing premises specially licensed under Section 78 of the Public Health and Buildings Ordinance, 1903, for the sale of food usually sold in a market.

Letter from Government relative to the reorganization of modern lines of the Medical and Sanitary Services of the Colony.

Letter from Government relative to the burial of the bodies of Naval ratings of non-commissioned rank in the Colonial Cemetery.

Questions.

Dr. R. A. de Castro Basto, pursuant to notice, will ask:

"Will the Head of the Sanitary Department kindly obtain the necessary particulars in reply to the following questions for the information of this Board viz.:

i. As the causative organism of Cerebro-spinal Meningitis has been found to belong to several groups or types, has there been any attempt at typing the organisms isolated from the cases occurring in the present epidemic?

ii. If this has not been done, will the Government consider doing so immediately?

iii. If on the other hand, this has already been done, which is the particular type of meningococcus responsible for the greater number of cases occurring in this present outbreak?

iv. Is the corresponding anti-type serum (as distinct from the usual polyvalent serum) being prepared, and if not, will the Government consider its preparation with regard to the present epidemic, seeing that according to the latest researches it has been found that the mortality rate is greatly diminished when the 'type' of organism is known and the corresponding anti-serum employed?"

Resolution.

Dr. R. A. de Castro Basto, pursuant to notice, will move: "That in the opinion of this Board it is desirable in the public interest that more effective measures be taken to check the spread of the present outbreak of Cerebro-spinal Meningitis in the Colony, including the organisation of an intensive health propaganda campaign for the purpose of instructing the public both as regards the methods of prevention and cure of this disease."

Report of the Committee appointed to consider the proposed changes in the Estimates of the Sanitary Department and the proposed Public Works Extraordinary for the Sanitary Department for 1933.

Correspondence relative to the application for the erection of five European type water closets at No. 15, New Market Street and No. 8, Connaught Road West, on Marine Lot No. 422.

have sufficient count for three no trump, abandon the heart suit and bid three no trump.

You must remember that in overcalling an intervening bid by opponents with two hearts, you show a stronger type of hand than if you had bid two hearts over partner's one no trump with no intervening bid. Holding a weak hand with which you would have ordinarily taken partner out with two hearts if opponents had not bid, you should pass as partner is now in no danger.

Remember that in contract bridge it is essential to find out where the two hands fit best and the proper deductions can only be made by intelligent partnership bidding.

The dime-a-dance girl

BU JOAN CLAUTON

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beautiful Ellen Rossiter, a schoolgirl in Barclay's Department Store, lives with her extravagant mother, Molly Rossiter, her sister, Myra, and her young brother, Mike. The two girls support the family. Molly foolishly spends money saved to pay the rent. Ellen decides to work nights at Dreamland as a dance hall hostess until the sum is made up. The hostesses must wear evening dresses and Ellen has none. Steven Barclay, 57 and Ellen's employer, sees the girl crying and discovers the situation. He lends Ellen a lovely frock when she refuses to accept it as a gift. Ellen forgets his kindness when at Dreamland she meets handsome Larry Harrowgate, an artist. Later she learns he is engaged to Elizabeth Brown, a debutante. Even though she believes him to be a philanderer she continues to see him.

Ellen quarrels with her mother, refusing to break an engagement with Larry to accept one from Barclay. She goes to Coney Island with Larry and finds herself more and more in love with him.

CHAPTER XV

Monday was sale day at Barclay's. Monday was the day the basement invariably reached its peak for the whole week. The girls dreaded Mondays. Most of them on Sunday critically examined the store advertisements to determine which counters were to be inundated. That particular Monday Ellen and Jenny Elkins, her counter mate, were the victims. Their counter drew a large and vociferous proportion of the crowd. Nine-teen-cent crelone, hundreds of bolts, apparently were passionately desired by every woman in New York.

Ellen as she mechanically cut lengths of gray coloured material and tossed them to the wrapper, as she tried vainly to keep some order among the bolts on the counter, as she again and again assured cross and weary shoppers that any one of the patterns was precisely what was wanted for summer draperies, had not a minute to think of herself or of Larry. She had dreamed of him the night before. No dream had a chance of survival at Barclay's on Monday Morning.

Toward 11 Ellen began to notice

that Jenny Elkins, a little chatter-box of 19, was strangely silent. Ordinarily nothing could stop Jenny's active tongue. She was always talking and giggling between sales or during them, calmly oblivious of the fury of her customers. Ellen missed her cheerful chatter and her breathless confidences of what "the boy friend" had said or done the night before.

During a temporary lull, she ventured to move to Jenny's end of the counter to ask how she had spent the week-end.

The other girl continued making out her sales slip. Since Jenny did not speak, Ellen decided that she had not heard the question. She repeated it. Jenny raised a flushed face.

"Doing nothing much," she answered coolly. "I haven't done anything to offend you, have I?" Ellen asked in surprise.

"Of course not," Jenny responded airily. She tore off the sales slip, handed the carbon to her customer and affably urged the perspiring woman to come again to Barclay's. She was so affable that the customer looked a bit startled as she hurried away. She was less startled than Ellen. Ellen knew how Jenny felt about customers.

Unfortunately at that moment her attention was diverted by a renewed run on cretonnes. She was compelled to dash back to her own place. Eventually she decided to ask Jenny to lunch with her. She really preferred to lunch alone, but she had no intention of permitting her counter-mate to sulk over an imaginary injury.

At the stroke of 12 and before Ellen had a chance to speak, Jenny disappeared. That was odd, too. Generally there was some casual discussion of luncheon plans. Ellen ran toward the employee's stairway and caught up with Jenny who was making her way to the rest room. "I'll set you up to lunch if you don't go over 50 cents," she offered guilefully, knowing how broke Jenny invariably was.

"Sorry," answered Jenny.

"Look here," Ellen began suddenly and with spirit. "If you're annoyed with me over something I insist that you tell me what it is." The stairs were full of hurrying girls. All at once Ellen was possessed of the notion that Jenny did not wish to be seen with her. Certainly she was galloping up the stairs in an unusual manner.

"Tell me," she urged again.

"It's nothing," Jenny responded sulkily. "It is too, or you wouldn't act this way," Ellen persisted. "You're not in such a hurry as all this. Let's stop a moment."

She walked through the door at the second floor and into the practically deserted furniture department. After a long glance at the stairs and a fearful, fascinated glance at Ellen's back, Jenny followed.

"Now, out with it," Ellen said. Jenny was plainly embarrassed. She looked at Ellen uncomfortably, started to speak but instead locked her lips in stubborn silence. As she regained her composure Ellen saw with growing nervousness that Jenny had assumed a look of covert curiosity as though there were something new and disturbing about Ellen which she had never seen before.

"I've always liked you, Ellen," she said at last weakly, "but a girl has to think of her reputation."

LEGALITY OF NEWCASTLE GOAL DOUBTED

London, Apr. 23.
Newcastle United deservedly beat Arsenal at Wembley, but a great controversy is raging in England in connection with the first goal scored by Newcastle. The Press are unanimous in their views that Allen's first point was illegal, but the referee is adamant. At the conclusion of the match His Majesty the King presented the Cup to the captain of the Newcastle United.

The attendance of 92,000 spectators represented gate receipts of £25,000. The game was fast, sporting and a typical Cup game.

In the match at Ayresome Park between Middlesbrough and Everton the referee sustained concussion and had to be taken off the field.—

MOTHER AND BROTHER AT SHANGHAI CEREMONY

Shanghai, Apr. 24.
Amid every sign of respect and gratitude, thousands of Chinese gathered at the Hungjiao cemetery, in sight of the Chinese aerodrome to-day to attend the funeral of Robert Short, the American airman who was killed in an aerial battle with the Japanese over Soochow in February. The Chinese Government was officially represented, together with many Chinese public bodies.

Short's mother and brother, who had travelled especially from America to attend the funeral, were the pathetic central figures of the ceremony, which was preceded by a memorial service in the American church here.—

GREAT FESTIVITIES.

ST. GEORGE &amp; SHAKESPEARE COMMEMORATED

London, Apr. 23.
The Feast of St. George, England's patron saint, and the memory of the immortal William Shakespeare are being celebrated to-day throughout the country.

Shakespeare's birth-place at Stratford-on-Avon is the centre of the chief celebrations and the picturesque town was gaily decorated for the reception of the representatives of over 70 nations, who had come to do homage to Shakespeare's memory.

The Prince of Wales flew from Windsor to take part in the ceremonies which included the opening by His Royal Highness of the new Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, which has been erected on the banks of the Avon River.

A luncheon, presided over by the Mayor of Stratford and attended by the representatives of the world, preceded the ceremony at the Theatre and to-night the first performance in the Theatre will be given when the first part of Henry the Fourth is being staged in the presence of the Prince.—

BRITAIN'S TARIFFS.

SIR HERBERT AUSTIN'S TIMELY WARNING

London, Apr. 23.
British industrial leaders, though Sir Herbert Austin gave a word of warning when he expressed the opinion that duties should have been made consistent on the industries themselves undertaking not to increase prices, and that any profiteering would be fatal.

Next week promises a flood of sectional trade meetings and a flock of deputations to the House of Commons. There will also be a two-day debate on the new tariffs.

French opinion regards the new tariff wall as excessive, declaring that Britain is now the most protectionist country in Europe, and thus furnishes Germany with an excuse for demanding the annulment of war debts on the ground that if she can't export she can't pay. The hope is expressed, but without conviction, that Britain's latest move is only a bargaining weapon.—
Reuter's Special Service.

THE TIN CRISIS.

PRODUCTION TO BE STILL MORE RESTRICTED

A further cut of 20,000 tons annually from June 1 has been unanimously recommended by the International Tin Committee to Bolivia, Malaya, the Dutch East Indies and Nigeria. This is a substitute for the cut of 8,400 tons of March 22. The next meeting will be held on May 20.—

"IRONSIDES" AT THE FRONT

CHINESE TROOPS ON THE MOVE

Shanghai, Apr. 23.
The Evening Post and Mercury learns that the advance guards of General Chang Kai-shek's famous "Ironsides" have arrived in the vicinity of Hangchow, where preparations are being made for the arrival of the main force, which travelled on foot from Kwangsi, from where they set out two months ago.

The Evening Post and Mercury says that the number of the troops in the Hangchow area is swelling daily with the arrival of fresh units and estimates that 20,000 men are already there.

It declares that trains filled with troops are seen daily on the Shanghai-Ninkpo Railway, along which every station is occupied by soldiers.

The newspaper adds that preparations are being made to provide shelter in Soochow for the 19th Army, in the event of their falling back from Quinsan. Dug-outs and entrenchments are being constructed with bricks taken from Soochow's ancient walls, and other military preparations are being made.—
Reuter.

Lytton Mission

Tokyo, Apr. 23.
The League Commission is most worried, according to the Mukden Press, owing to the Manchukuo authorities' refusal to accord a formal interview or to allow Dr. Wellington Koo to accompany the Commission outside the Japanese zone.

The Manchukuo Government is indignant because the Commission entered Manchuria without formal notification of their visit, thus ignoring its existence as an independent state.
According to the Tokyo Foreign Office, Japan is unable to guarantee Dr. Koo's safety if he leaves the railway zone or even goes outside the South Manchuria Railway zone to the north of Changchun, though ready to do her best to protect him.

A Changchun message states that Manchukuo has sent notes to the League of Nations and the English and American Governments regarding the Wellington Koo question and the Commission visiting Manchuria without notifying the Government thereof.—
Reuter.

Another Member Joins

Wei-hai-wei, Apr. 23.
Acting on instructions received from the British Legation, the British Consul, Mr. C. S. Moss, has sailed for Dairen to join the Lytton Commission as Technical Adviser.
Mr. Moss was formerly Consul at Nanking and was transferred to Wei-hai-wei in November, but proceeded first to Chinchow as observer, and arrived here in the middle of January.—
Reuter.

IN LEAGUE WITH COMMUNISTS.

CHARGES LAID AGAINST EUROPEAN COUPLE

Shanghai, Apr. 24.
It has been learned reliably that Mr. and Mrs. Noulens, who were arrested here last June, on information supplied by the Singapore authorities, as Communists, will be tried at the Soochow Court on charges of having attempted to overthrow the present Government.

If they are found guilty they may be sentenced to death. The prosecution alleges that the pair were connected with Chinese Communists in Hunan and Kiangsi.—
Reuter's Special.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN.

JAPANESE PREMIER TO GRANT INTERVIEW

Tokyo, Apr. 24.
Charlie Chaplin's secretary is now here, and has intimated to the Premier, Mr. Inukai, Mr. Chaplin's desire to have an interview with him when he arrives in Tokyo.
Mr. Inukai has granted the request and will autograph a scroll in Chinese characters to present to the comedian, who is due to arrive in Kobe about May 3, on board the Hakozaki Maru.—

BRITISH SPORTING IDEALS

The question arises every now and then whether British people are not unduly obsessed with considerations of sport to the relative exclusion of other and weightier matters. Here in Hongkong, sporting activities occupy a large part in the life of our young manhood and womanhood. From the standpoint of health, it is well that this should be so, since it has long been conceded that regular exercise is a necessity for all who would keep fit in the sub-tropics. But the point does arise whether or not sport is not given a disproportionate place at the expense of other activities. When all is said and done, there is a danger in the East of mental as well as physical deterioration: a point which, we fear, is too often overlooked. The ideal to be kept in view is a more equal division of energy in both spheres.

Some little time back, Lord Gorell raised considerable argument by suggesting that the British people were paying far too much heed to sport. But in saying, as he did, that England was in danger of becoming too keen on the winning of championships and the setting up of records, and of paying more attention to the results and rewards of the game than to the game itself, he voiced a criticism that not only England but the greater part of the world might do well to consider. Perhaps it is too often forgotten that if a game is worth playing at all it is worth playing badly. Lord Gorell regarded as the English contribution to sport the fact that the "average Englishman is not a specialist," but "prides himself on being an all-round sportsman." There is a possibility that this contribution may become a thing of the past. The development of professionalism has led inevitably to the cultivation of specialized skill instead of all-round ability, and if England is to continue to make her peculiar contribution there will have to be a return to the days when more people played games and fewer people watched them. This fact, however, brings up an important practical difficulty. Some time ago there appeared in Punch a cartoon of an old gentleman saying to a young man who was about to enter a professional football ground, "When I was your age, I used to play football, not watch it," to which the youth replied, "When you were my age, you had a ground to play on." The number of playing pitches in Great Britain is still inadequate for the needs of the multitudes of those who would use them if they had the chance; and there is little social work more certain of doing

But it is one thing to provide playing fields for the masses, and another to place undue emphasis on competitive sport. Athletics admittedly deserve an honourable place even in our system of education: they receive it, in some centres as prominent a place as do academics. It is good that our youth should be imbued with the spirit underlying true sportsmanship, but not that the be-all and end-all of their school life should be sought on the sports ground. Let the happy medium be kept in view, based on a regard for sport merely for sport's sake: the inculcation of the idea to "play the game" in all spheres of life. This hitherto has been the British ideal; we owe it to our national traditions to see that the heritage is maintained.

Individual Freedom in Parliament

The small and attenuated Labour Opposition in the House of Commons naturally wishes to attain that driving power and concentration which comes of a high measure of order and discipline. But there are degrees of discipline that encroach unduly upon the sphere of individual freedom and most people will feel that Col. Josiah Wedgwood, Member for Newcastle-under-Lyme, is justified in his protest against the party's recent decision that all its members must agree to vote in accordance with the decision of the party meeting or of the whips on all matters not concerned with religion or liquor, even if this involves breaking a pledge to constituents. Colonel Wedgwood points out that only after a long struggle were debates in the House of Commons made public, thus enabling the electorate to keep fully informed as to the acts and motives of their representatives. But the proceedings at party meetings are secret, so that if the decision challenged were adhered to, constituents again would be kept in the dark as to the real opinions of their members. Moreover, the debates in Parliament would be robbed of whatever reality they at present possess, for the decision of one important section of the House and would have been irrevocably taken before the debate began. This could hardly fail to deal an irreparable blow at the prestige and efficiency of Britain's Government. But the consideration that should appeal with most force to the Labour Party is that such an agreement can scarcely fail to injure the party itself. Now, when it is so weak in Parliament, it needs more than ever before to recruit to its service men of determination of ability, and of original thought. Only so can it hope to regain its former position, let alone improve it. Yet nothing is so calculated to prevent the enlisting of such men under its banner as assuring them that if they do join it they will be mere voting dummies, unquestionably taking orders from a party caucus.

AIR-WIDOWER ANSWERED

By "PROP TORQUE"

AFTER reading the article in Thursday's Telegraph entitled "The Air-Widower," I feel that I cannot let certain statements pass without a challenge. At the beginning it appeared that this article was of a humorous nature but later criticism of aviation seemed to strike a more serious vein, and it is in reply to some of the allegations made against the aeroplane manufacturers and the aeroplane itself that I shall endeavour to show something of the true state of affairs.

The writer states that he has three definite objections to light plane flying, these being (1) speed, (2) visibility, and (3) noise. He alleges that manufacturers are not striving for safety, inasmuch as engine self-starters are not generally fitted; efforts are not being made to reduce the air speed at which an aeroplane is controllable, i.e. stalling speed, and that they are confining their energies to increase of speed. He also bewails lack of visibility—attributing many air collisions to lack of it, and another point made on the question of noise is that silencers are too heavy, and, therefore, cannot be used.

The article in itself was a splendid example of ignorance of aircraft construction and design, and designers' aims. The only conclusion to which I can come—and to which any other fair-minded critic with any accurate knowledge of the matter can come—is that the writer knows nothing whatever of present-day aviation and has most certainly never been inside a modern light aeroplane in the air, although he tries to give the impression that he has.

Starters.

His points can be answered quite briefly. As to self-starters, from the point of view of safety, they do not definitely add to safety because if an aero engine stops in the air it can be depended upon that the trouble is so serious that no amount of self-starting or hand-swinging the propeller will start it again until the trouble has been righted.

Secondly, except with high-compression racing engines, which are not embraced in the light plane category, the propeller can be turned by air pressure by putting the machine into a steep but nevertheless quite safe dive; if a pilot fears engine trouble he should never fly at such a low altitude as to prevent his diving. Then, again, self-starters are expensive and are only worthwhile considering by wealthy owners, or those who are too lazy or weak to swing a prop or turn a starting handle. The latter is fitted to nearly all modern light aeroplanes; they require very little effort to turn and by this means the engine can be started easily without touching the propeller or being in dangerous proximity to it.

giving bigger pay loads for smaller and consequently less costly machines for commercial purposes; greater stability in the air. All this means increasing the attraction of air travel and reducing costs to a point where a much larger public will be able to afford it. All this applies similarly to light privately-owned planes. The great advantage over all other means of transport of air travel is speed and this must be striven for of necessity, but it is not being done at the expense of anything else.

Speed.

While on the matter of speed, it is wrong to assume that if the speed of an aeroplane is increased, then the stalling speed must also be higher in proportion; also the totally erroneous idea that aeroplanes must make fast landings should be dispelled.

To take a concrete case, which can probably be tested out at Kai Tak with permission of the Hongkong Flying Club, I will refer to our Avro-Avian. Its top speed is 115 m.p.h. and stalling speed is 40 m.p.h. This means that when the wheels are just coming into contact with the ground when landing, the flow of air (or air speed) over the wings is 40 m.p.h. But an aeroplane is always landed into wind, and 95 times out of 100, there is a wind of 10 m.p.h. can practically always be relied upon, but more often it is between 15 m.p.h. and 25 m.p.h.

When our Avian lands into a wind of 25 m.p.h. it means that a stalling speed of 40 m.p.h. the speed over the ground is 40 m.p.h. minus 25 m.p.h. the speed of the wind, which equals only 15 m.p.h., an extremely low figure. With the wind at 15 m.p.h., which is a good average, ground speed, would be only 25 m.p.h.

In taking-off, the wind would act similarly and the Avian would only need a run along the ground for a few yards to gain a ground speed of 15 to 25 m.p.h., which, together with the wind force, would give it flying speed. In average weather, the Club plane leaves the ground in a matter of only four or five seconds.

There are light planes on the British market with much lower stalling speeds. The Compu-Swift touches 150 m.p.h. on full throttle but stalling speed is only 28 m.p.h. The Redwing stalls at 35 m.p.h., and there are many others that I could mention.

Stalling.

Designers and manufacturers have undoubtedly made great strides in achieving two of their most important objects, (1) increased speeds, (2) reducing stalling speeds, and not at the expense of safety. A few years hence it is most likely that the average stalling speed will be as low as 15 or 20 m.p.h. The degree of controllability and safety of modern aircraft, at what would have been regarded not so very long ago as suicidally slow speeds, is nothing short of remarkable.

Further, as to stalling, what if a modern light plane does stall? It only means that the nose will drop as flying speed is lost until the machine is diving, and after only a few seconds, diving, air speed and full control will be regained. This, again, serves to emphasise the point that is drilled into every student—fly at a safe height. Also, a pupil who was not efficient enough to realise when his machine was stalling—it is quite a slow process in normal flying—would never be granted a licence and allowed to fly.

It is important to remember that speeds, and particularly stalling speeds, are always given as air speeds (i.e. the speed of the air flow round the wings) and not as ground speeds. Ground speed depends entirely upon the strength of the wind into which a take-off or landing is being made as deducted from the air speed.

For a writer to say, "I get in an aeroplane; I rise into the air and I see absolutely nothing except struts and planes and bits of engine—occasionally I catch a glimpse of the horizon," is nothing short of ridiculous. Outside "blind" flying, a pilot must and does see the horizon, because unless a special instrument is fitted, which is nearly always not the case, he has to depend on the horizon to keep his machine level.

When I have flown at Kai Tak I have kept the nose of the machine on the horizon—the correct position at all altitudes for level flight—by looking at the horizon.

Collision Danger.

With regard to general visibility, it is such that if "A" is flying a machine and "B" is in another plane is near enough to be in dangerous proximity, "A" is bound to see "B" in ample time to avert a collision, unless "B" is above "A's" tail; in that case "B" is bound to see "A." Just as chauffeurs do not drive cars about with their eyes closed, so aéro-

"SUSAN LENOX"

GARBO FILM AT THE QUEEN'S

There were crowded houses at the Queen's Theatre yesterday to witness the first screenings of "Susan Lenox," featuring Greta Garbo and Clark Gable. Opinions will probably differ regarding this film. The task of reducing the novel to film dimensions cannot have been an easy one, and this may account for the variations from the book as well as from the programme synopsis.

In parts, the film is truly great; in others, not so convincing. There can be no questioning the excellence of the acting, however, although we preferred Greta Garbo in "Anna Christie" to her work in this production. Clark Gable is good, as also are some of the minor characters, notably Jean Hersholt in the little that we see of him. On the whole, however, the story does not maintain the gripping nature of the original novel. Nevertheless, it is a film well worth seeing.

TOO MUCH MUSIC IN CHURCH?

CANON HANNAY'S CRITICISMS

Strong views on church music are held by Canon James O. Hannay (George A. Birmingham). He believes that there is too much music in the Church's services; that musicians do not know their own minds and that they are in the habit of spinning their compositions to unnecessary lengths.

These and other complaints appear in an article, which Canon Hannay has contributed to the current issue of "English Church Music."

"Things have now gone so far," he writes, "that the only parts of morning service left unsung are the Lessons and the State Prayers. I live in fear of the coming of the day when it will be found possible to set the Lessons to notes, as the Epistle and Gospel are set on grand occasions."

"I admit that people who really dislike music are in a minority, and so are deserving of very little consideration, but I think we might be given a Sunday Matins now and then in which we could enjoy the exquisite cadences of the Psalms and the rhythm of the Collects—which is impossible when the one is chanted and the other mewed on G."

Long Settings.

Musical settings of the Nicene Creed, of enormous length, he declares, have caused him intense irritation.

"Of course there are settings of the Communion Service which go straight through the Nicene Creed without extravagant meanderings," he adds, "but even these are for the most part irritating."

"Why do musicians insist on treating the clauses about our Lord's incarnation as if they were the saddest things in the whole creed, becoming comparatively cheerful when they reach the Crucifixion?"

"Surely it was not in this way that the original herald angels announced the glad news through the broken clouds? I imagine that they shouted and trilled on their loudest and most joyful notes. Do our musicians really think that they know better than 'the multitude of the heavenly host'?"

CHANNEL BOAT MYSTERY

PASSENGER DISAPPEARS

London, Mar. 31.

A man travelling in a Channel steamer with his wife yesterday disappeared from the vessel, and, in spite of a search of the sea, which was rough, was not seen again.

He was Mr. Dudley James Inskip, aged 40, a mining engineer, of Princes-square, Hammersmith, London, and he was a first-class passenger in the Southern Railway Company's steamer Isle of Sark on the trip from the Channel Isles to Southampton.

Mr. Inskip was travelling from Jersey, where he had been staying at the Star Hotel with his wife.

Off the Casquets he was seen sitting in the after part of the ship. Then he disappeared, and the cry "Man overboard" caused great excitement among the passengers.

Lifboat Manned.

The vessel put about and cruised for an hour near the spot where Mr. Inskip disappeared.

A lifboat was manned ready for launching, and a lifbelt with a calcium flare was thrown into the sea, but no trace of the missing man was seen, and the boat was not lowered.

Mrs. Inskip, who had gone to Jersey following a request by her husband to join him, went early to London as soon as the ship docked at Southampton. She was overcome by grief, and was accompanied to London by a stewardess from the ship.

For two years Mr. Inskip and his wife, who had no children, had been living in Princes-square in a boarding house.

Mrs. Inskip arrived there last night in a state of collapse.

LIONESS PANIC

LADY OXFORD IN RIVIERA THRILL

Cannes, Mar. 30.

Lady Oxford and Asquith, Lady Louisa Mountbatten, and Mrs. Paul Dubonnet (formerly Mrs. Jean Nash, "the best-dressed woman") helped to calm 500 panic-stricken people at the Casino Restaurant here tonight when a lioness was thought to have escaped from its cage during a performance at a gala dinner.

The Belgian Ambassador, the Grand Duke Boris, and M. Venizelos, Premier of Greece, were among the diners.

Two lions and a lioness had been performing in a large cage and a number of Abyssinian negroes, whose dancing turn was the next item, were practising steps near the cage when the lioness, stirred by the unexpected movements, suddenly began leaping about and finally jumped to the top of the cage in the rear at a point invisible to the audience.

Immediately the cry arose that the animal had broken loose.

Mr. Andre, Director of the Casino, shouted instructions to clear the entry and announced that the performance was over.

Women screamed and fainted, and hundreds of people jumped to their feet, preparing to run for safety.

It was realised by those close to the cage that there was no danger and Lady Oxford and Asquith, Lady Louisa Mountbatten, soon joined by Madame Dubonnet, stood up prominently in front and explained what had happened.

Calm was quickly restored and the fire brigade, which had been summoned, dislodged the frightened lioness from her perch with a hose.

GRANTED BAIL TO GET MARRIED

TO SAVE A GIRL'S REPUTATION

A young man who was charged at Margate with burglary was allowed bail in order that he might marry.

The prisoner, Jack Wilson, a pantryman employed at Maida Vale, admitted stealing silver and china worth £50 at the house of Mr. Gustave Tuck, Upper Hamilton-Terrace, St. John's Wood.

He was traced by footprints which led from the garden to that of the house where he was employed. A cloak-room ticket was found concealed in a hole near the ceiling of the garage at his employer's address. The ticket related to a portion of the stolen property, the rest of which was found at the end of the garden in an old suit-case.

Courtship a French Girl

Wilson said he was courting a French girl and was anxious to get married. He had been unable to save sufficient to get married, and was worried about it.

A detective said that Wilson was anxious to save the girl's reputation. She was expecting to become a mother. She was due shortly to return to France, but if Wilson married her she would become a British subject.

"The girl," he added, "is just crazy to be married, but it is rather a hopeless proposition, because Wilson has not enough money to keep her."

Mr. Sandbach: If he is anxious to do the honourable thing, whether it might appear to be the best thing or not, I won't put any difficulty in his way.

Wilson was committed for trial and was allowed bail of £50.

GOLFER'S ROMANCE BROKEN

MISS WETHERED &amp; MAJOR HUTCHISON

A golfing romance has ended with the announcement that the marriage arranged between Miss Joyce Wethered, the famous golfer, and Major Cecil K. Hutchison, the Scottish international, will not take place.

The engagement was announced last November.

Miss Wethered, who is 31, has won the Women's Open Championship four times and has played in many international matches.

Major Hutchison is 54. He finished third in the Open Championship in 1914 and was runner-up in the Amateur Championship in 1909.

Another broken engagement announced is that of the Hon. Charles Fitzroy, son and heir of Lord Southampton, whose intention to marry was made known in February.

He was to have married Miss Sheila Seely, second daughter of the late Lieut-Colonel Frank Seely and Mrs. Seely, of St. George's Hill, Arnold. Mr. Fitzroy's first wife died last year.

A PREHISTORIC CREMATORIUM

DISCOVERY ON SURREY DOWNS

Blackened bones of a woman and a child have been found in a prehistoric crematorium on the Surrey Downs.

At Burrows Cross, near Penlake, two trenches have been excavated by Mr. S. E. Winbolt and Mr. C. H. Grinling.

These trenches are about 20 feet long and 4 feet across, and when originally dug were probably 4 feet deep. They are walled and floored with big stones. The floor is gently curved toward the centre. Bodies were cremated in the middle, and then scooped down by another layer of stones. On this new floor another cremation took place, and the trench was finally filled with sand.

At one end of the trench half-cremated human bones were found; all the others must have been completely destroyed.

Mr. Grinling told a Press representative that the remains had been examined by Sir Arthur Keith, who stated that they were of a woman and a child of about 14 years.

Experts who have examined the trenches suggest that they may have been used by Neolithic people who once roamed the Downs.

Another view is that this crematorium belonged to the much later people who lived at Holbury camp, which is about two miles to the south. Investigations are being continued.

WOMAN'S RACING AMBITION

FAILURE ENRICHES BOOKMAKERS

The Hon. Dorothy Paget, who is one of the four most successful women racehorse owners of the season, failed in her ambition to bring off the double—the Queen's Prize at Kempton Park and the Lancashire Steeplechase, at Manchester.

Her horse, Golden Miller, was unplaced at Manchester, and her other horse, Insurance, came in second at Kempton.

Miss Paget's bid had captured the imagination of the big holiday crowd at Castle Irwell, Manchester, and the bookmakers went awry richer.

The fact that another woman owner, Mrs. C. L. MacKean, won the first race stimulated interest in the Lancashire Steeplechase on the popular side, and bookmakers and tote clerks took more bets on Golden Miller than on all the other horses put together.

Miss Paget watched the race from the stands, and after it was over rushed down to congratulate Mr. W. Waddington, the owner of the winner, Hulo Hollos.

LAWN BOWLS.

TALKOO RECREATION CLUB
BEGIN THEIR SEASON

Bowling members of the Talkoo Recreation Club officially opened their Lawn Bowls season on Saturday afternoon, when eight teams composed of ladies and gentlemen were engaged in four rinks, playing over twenty hands.

A very interesting game was witnessed, and eventually the "A" team emerged winners over the "B" team by 85 shots to 69.

Among those who took part in the game were Mr. K. E. Greig, President of the Club, and Mr. A. R. H. Phillips, Vice-President.

Mr. James Stewart, the Chairman of the Lawn Bowls section, called upon Mrs. Phillips to present silver spoons to the winning rinks. In doing so he said that if the enthusiasm displayed that afternoon were maintained throughout the season they could be assured of a very successful record. He also remarked upon the progress the ladies were making in the game.

Mr. K. E. Greig, endorsed what Mr. Stewart had said regarding the success of the ladies, and added that he would like to see more younger members take to the game.

The results were:—"A" Team. C. Summers, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Keown, J. A. Watson, D. Munro, 22 R. Keown, 17 Mrs. Chalmers, R. Bell, Miss G. Weir, Mrs. Stewart, J. Pulson, A. Stalker, J. Chapman, 11 H. ## MAMAK HOCKEY

POLICE DEFEATED BY C.B.A.

On the Marina Ground on Sunday, the C.B.A. met and defeated the Police in the Mamak Hockey tournament by 6 goals to 2. The game varied on the rough side and was void of interest. The C.B.A. did not have things all their own way, as the score would seem to indicate. The Police were unlucky not to have scored more often.

On Wednesday, at 5.15 p.m. on the Radio Ground at Caroline Hill, St. Andrew's will play off their final fixture in the competition against the Incognitos. Both teams are well up in the League table and a very interesting encounter can be anticipated. The referees will be Cpl. Knight and Cpl. Timmins.

Friendly Games

The Radio Sports Club entertained H.M.S. Cumberland at Caroline Hill on Saturday and won by five clear goals. G. Singh, the Radio centre-forward, scored on three occasions. The encounter was fast throughout, the Cumberland defence putting in some good work.

On the same ground, the Police met the German Club and won by six goals to nil.

JIU-JITSU HONOURS.

PROF. MAURICIO'S PUPILS

The following pupils who took up a complete course in Jiu-Jitsu and Self-Defence and Attack a few months ago were awarded "diplomas" by Professor Mauricio at the Mauricio College of Physical Education on Saturday, April 23 after the final lesson was given at 8.30 p.m.

Four members of H.M.S. Cumberland were included in the class. Messrs. H. J. Jackson, G. Stollery, L. Long and G. A. W. Payne. These four practised among themselves and they were as rough as they were scientific. Now and again they exchanged partners with the lighter pupils.

Mr. M. Remedios of the Gas Company shared most of his brilliant practices with Mr. Ramon S. Alberto, an outstanding amateur boxer and Jiu-Jitsu who is now on his way to the United States to complete his Aviation Course.

Two others who were just as good were Li Ka Lok, a student of Queen's College who spent most of his time with Kwok Pui Fai ex-pupil of Wah Yan College. Although they were of different weights, they found no difficulty in doing the most advanced tricks. Several tumbling tricks were shown to the pupils during their spare time in which all partook with great eagerness.

INTERPORT TRIAL

PROBABLES TEAM PUT UP
A FINE SHOW

The first of the Interport cricket matches to select the players who are to represent Hongkong against Shanghai at the latter port was played on the Hongkong Cricket Club ground on Saturday.

E. J. R. Mitchell led a team of Probables against a side captained by Alan Reid. The Probables put up a good showing, and on the afternoon's play were the more balanced side.

J. E. Richardson and E. Zimmern opened the innings for the Probables. Richardson was the first to go, when he failed to stop a full toss from Gosano, the ball striking the bottom of his bat and trickling to the wicket. E. F. Fincher joined Zimmern, and both batsmen settled down to careful cricket. They advanced the score to 36 when Zimmern was bowled by Alan Reid with a fine length ball which broke in from the leg.

L. T. Ride did not stay long, being caught by P. Madar off his own bowling, the bowler taking a low catch with his left hand. Mitchell and Fincher then advanced the score to 86 runs before Fincher was bowled by Gosano. Fincher played a fine innings, characterized by some good drives on the off side.

Madar settled down to careful cricket, meeting the ball with the full face of the bat, and not taking any undue risks. Mitchell retired when he had scored 36 runs. He was particularly hard on P. Madar, driving him a number of times straight over the bowler's head to the boundary.

Pereira and Burnett lived the tail end of the innings, the latter hitting two sixes off A. A. Rumlajn in one over. The total of 169 runs put up by the Probables was the result of some consistent scoring, four batsmen topping the twenty mark.

L. A. C. Hamilton kept a very good length, and varied his bowling pace cleverly. His four wickets for 28 runs was the best bowling performance of the afternoon.

Reid's Eleven Bat.

N. A. E. Mackay and A. A. Rumlajn, who opened the innings for Reid's side, adopted very careful methods, and were content to "sit the splice" against the bowling of Pereira and Minu. When the score read 13 runs, Pereira pierced

CHARITY FOOTBALL

SERVICES DEFEATED BY SOUTH CHINA

Two football games were staged at Caroline Hill by the South China A.A. in aid of Naval and Military Charities yesterday. The attendance was good. In addition to the two matches, the Fifes and Drums of the South Wales Borderers, by kind permission of Col. G. T. Ralke, D.S.O., and Officers, played selections on the field before the start of the first match, and during the intervals.

The match ball was drawn for, the winning ticket No. 210 being purchased by Mr. J. R. Sulter, of the Pharmacy, and he very kindly handed it back to the Association to be again disposed of, the proceeds being added to the fund. Mr. Wong Kwong-tin kicked off for South China in the Senior game. The Chinese won by the only goal scored.

Mackay's defence with a ball which shot like a bullet, giving the batsmen no chance.

The scoring was a trifle slow, but was controlled by circumstances. Beck, who took over from Minu at the Naval Yard end, whipped Rumlajn's balls off with a perfect delivery. Rumlajn played a staid innings, punishing only the loose deliveries.

E. L. Gosano was unfortunate, to be run out. He was shaping well, though Beck had him guessing at times. McEellan and Hamilton both played very well, the latter executing two particularly fine shots off Beck, the ball being hit just past his legs backward to fine leg. He was eventually caught at extra cover, Minu bringing off a very fine catch. McEellan, though cautious, made some nice placements to leg. He was unfortunate to "play on" to Burnett. Patterson and Polley did not stay long, and it looked as if the Probables were going to snatch a victory, but Duckitt and E. C. Fincher played out time.

The bowling was very even, Pereira and Burnett each getting two wickets, and Madar and Beck one each. Minu kept a good length in his first spell, but was unlucky. He made up, however, in his fielding. Madar, though taking only one wicket, kept an irritating length, and worried the batsmen with his medium spin deliveries. He bowled four overs, three of which were maidens, and took one wicket for five runs.

A THRILLING CUP FINAL

NEWCASTLE WIN BY ODD GOAL

The appearance of the sun just before noon prompted their Majesties the King and Queen to attend the final of the English Football Association Cup at Wembley where Newcastle United beat the Arsenal by two goals to one.

As their Majesties arrived at the stadium at 2.50 p.m. the huge crowd of 92,000 spectators stood at attention and sang the National Anthem. The teams took the field a few minutes later and the players were presented to His Majesty King George who shook hands with each man in the field.

A remarkable recovery from a strained thigh muscle enabled Hulme to play for the Arsenal in a try-out and was unable to play. The teams lined up as follows: Newcastle United: McInroy; Fairhurst and Nelson; Weaver, Davidson and Mackenzie; Lang, McMenemy, Allen, Richardson and Parker; Hapgood; Jones, Roberts and Male; Hulme, Jack, Lambert, Bastin and John.

Arsenal Score First.

Parker won the toss for the Arsenal and Allen kicked off on turf that was springy. The Arsenal attacked immediately but Fairhurst, relieved by passing back to McInroy.

The Newcastle players were finding the pace of the ground better than the Londoners and two quick corners gave the Arsenal trouble. Good work by Jack enabled Hulme to get in a troublesome corner.

McInroy had difficulty in tipping Bastin's shot over the cross-bar, fine anticipation saving a certain goal.

Jack was dangerous in initiating attacks but McInroy was equal to all emergencies.

The Arsenal continued to attack and John headed in from a free kick in the goal mouth twelve minutes after the start.

John, who is really a half-back, was a conspicuous winger and nearly scored a second goal after several anxious moments.

Newcastle attacked but Hapgood checked, a threatening movement. Bastin sent in Hulme but McInroy, who was playing a magnificent game, saved a point-blank shot and then flustered out John's return header.

Newcastle returned to the attack. Their forwards who were adept at short passing had the Arsenal's goal frequently threatened. The game was running from end to end and Jack twice narrowly failed with headers. Then Roberts twice intervened when Parker miskicked.

Newcastle Equalised.

Eight minutes before the interval Boyd got away on his own and centred inches between Moss and the goalpost. Allen dashed in and scored the equalising goal. Newcastle kept up the pressure and were most unlucky when Moss made the save of a life time from a stinging shot by Boyd.

There was no further score before half time and the teams changed over with the score standing at one goal each.

Newcastle resumed brilliantly. Weaver swept the ball across the Arsenal goalmouth where Moss, cleverly positioning himself, effected a remarkable save at close range from a header by Boyd.

The Arsenal missed a great chance when, in a moment of excitement, Jack flung up his hands when Hulme centred.

Newcastle were monopolising the game but their forwards repeatedly missed chances through miskicking in front of goal. Allen sent in a sharp rising shot and had the Arsenal defence in a tangle but Moss saved superbly.

McMenemy and Lambert were injured in a tackle but resumed almost immediately afterwards.

Newcastle Take Lead.

Newcastle took the lead in the

that young woman a puzzling and uncomfortable afternoon.

It was nearly 4 and Ellen had begun to feel the lack of her lunch when Molly Rosier telephoned, with her usual disregard of the fact that Ellen was supposed to receive only business calls during business hours. Jenny answered the telephone and very formally told Ellen that she was wanted.

At that moment Ellen knew she could have brought Jenny back to her, chiefly because it was agony for that little magpie to be silent for any long period. Instead Ellen, with just as much formality, accepted the telephone.

For once Molly was not in trouble. For once Ellen was glad she had broken the store rules. Her mother's voice was very dear to her just then.

"Don't you suppose, honey, you could get away from Dreamland to-night?" Molly began. "We're having guests."

"I can easily. I was going to anyhow," Ellen replied, conscious that Jenny lingered in earshot.

She added curiously, "Who?" in a voice so low that Jenny missed it.

"Why—" her mother hesitated and then bubbled with laughter.

"Bert's coming," Ellen promised.

"I'll be there," Ellen promised. As she moved back to the end of the counter she wondered why her mother called Myra's fiancé "Bert."

For years Bert had run in and out of the apartment much as if he lived there. But Ellen was too troubled and worried by her own problem to ponder long about so small a mystery.

27th minute after the resumption when Roberts miskicked and let in Allen, who shot into the left corner of the net well clear of Moss.

The Arsenal missed a golden opportunity a few minutes later when Bastin put the ball in front of goal but Jack, who was playing centre-forward, shot weakly.

Richardson went off the field injured but returned inter lining for the Arsenal defence.

Arsenal were now most desperate and their accuracy suffered as a consequence.

Newcastle delighted their supporters by fine swinging passes and were still pressing at the finish. They thoroughly deserved their victory for their persistent playing-plan in a most clever manner which worried the Arsenal defence.

In the second half by keeping the ball in the sun's rays the Arsenal defence were subjected to heavy pressure. The half backs did not at any time ply their forwards with the usual audacious passes.

The Newcastle attack was more powerful and Allen proved a dashing leader. He gave Boyd plenty of opportunities to show off his speed.

Distinguished Attendance.

A large number of special trains arrived in London early to-day bringing great crowds of enthusiasts to witness the final which was played in the presence of their Majesties the King and Queen, who motored from Windsor accompanied by the Duke and Duchess of York. The Princess Royal and Lord Harewood, Lord and Lady Snowdon, Sir Herbert Samuel, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Thomas and other members of the Government as well as many other public men and women were present.

WOMAN STRANGLED

MURDERED IN CUBICLE
DURING NIGHTThe murder by strangulation of
a young Chinese female at 86,
Portland Street, during the early hours of yesterday morning is engaging the attention of the Police,
who are searching for a man surnamed Chang with whom the unfortunate woman and another female were living in a cubicle at the above address.The murdered woman, Lam Pui-king, who was 27 years of age and who followed the profession of a seamstress, occupied a cubicle on the second floor of 86, Portland Street, together with a man named Chang and another woman,
Man Fong, aged 32, a widow.
Chang, whose age was stated to be 24, was unemployed and a native of Shum Chun.The other parts of the floor were occupied by different families, a man named Wong Sze, aged 30, being one of the tenants. He was the first to discover that anything
was amiss when he was awakened
by Chang leaving his cubicle. Wong has informed the Police that when Chang was about to leave, the house he was asked where he was going and replied that he would return shortly as he was going to the lavatory.At 2 o'clock in the morning
Wong found that Chang had been out for an hour without returning, and became suspicious. He went to the cubicle occupied by Chang and the two women and
was shocked to find the younger
of the two females lying dead with a cord from a kimono tightly secured around her neck. She had obviously been strangled but it is not known when the ghastly crime was committed. The other woman, when questioned by the Police, claimed that she had been asleep throughout and had no
notion that anything unusual was happening in the room.Subsequently when the Police arrived on the scene it was reported that a gold bangle and a
gold watch chain had been stolen.

CONTINUESSHARP FIGHTING ON EASTERN RAILWAYTokyo, Apr. 23.
After routing the Kirin
cavalry brigade a body of 3,000 insurgents occupied Sanchao, a town on the southern branch of the Chinese Eastern Railway.They destroyed the railway tracks and telegraph wires, paralyzing communications between Harbin and Changchun and holding up a train, from which they seized some Japanese passengers according to Press reports
to Tokyo.It is also reported that Japanese residents in the neighbouring town of Taolichao have been abducted. On the receipt of this news a Japanese detachment
hastened to the scene.—Reuter.

Fighting on the Railway.

Harbin, Apr. 23.
Communication on the eastern section of the railway is still completely interrupted, and it is reported that heavy fighting is going on between the old Kirin

Weishaho but no details of the way it is going are available.—

Battle at Imienpo.

Harbin, Apr. 24.
A serious engagement took place yesterday at Imienpo where 7,000 anti-Manchukuo troops
attacked the Japanese garrison, assisted by field guns. They landed several shells among the Japanese and fierce fighting went on for five hours.With the assistance of their armoured train the Japanese counter-attacked and finally drove off the Chinese who are reported to have left 30 dead and many wounded. The Japanese casualties are not stated.—Reuter.

Troops Remaining.

Tokyo, Apr. 24.
Press messages from Seoul state that the Korean troops, which were Manchuria on Tuesday, will probably be retained in Manchuria, temporarily, owing to the grave situation due to banditry.—Reuter.

Japanese Troops.

Moscow, Apr. 18.
Reports received here from Habarovsk state that Major-General Doihara, who was allegedly cashiered from his post as chief of the Japanese Military Mission in Harbin, was in reality recalled from Harbin in order that he might be appointed to the command of a fresh brigade of troops that has been dispatched to Manchuria from Japan.—Tass.

LESSON-SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONGKONG"Probation after Death" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.The Golden Text was—"He knoweth the way that I take: when he hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold." (Job 23:10.)Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible—
"Many shall be purified, and made white, and tried; but the wicked shall do wickedly: and none of the wicked shall understand; but the wise shall understand. But go thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest, and stand in thy lot at the end of the days." (Daniel 12:10, 13.)The Lesson-Sermon also included
the following passage from
the Christian Science textbook,
"Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy—"Understanding little about
the divine Principle which saves
and heals, mortals get rid of sin,
sickness, and death only in belief.
These errors are not thus really destroyed, and must therefore cling to mortals until, here or hereafter, they gain the true
understanding of God. In the Science which destroys human delusions about Him and reveals the grand realities of His almightiness."
(p.328.)

CONVICTS ATTACK ESCORT.

MAKE ESCAPE IN JUNGLE WITH RIFLES

Lahore, Apr. 24. Despite a most active search, so far no trace has been found of the 10 prisoners who escaped yesterday while being conveyed from Aligarh to Lahore.

Twenty-five prisoners attacked the police escort at Narwana, a small station between Delhi and Bathinda. The head constable was killed and another constable wounded. Ten prisoners escaped into the jungle with three police rifles and 60 rounds of ammunition. The remaining 15 were brought to Lahore. —Reuter.

ST. THERESA'S CHURCH.

ERECTION OF NEW EDIFICE AT KOWLOON TONG

The ceremony of blessing and laying the foundation stone of St. Theresa's Church (Roman Catholic) which is being erected at the junction of Waterloo and Prince Edward Roads, at Kowloon Tong, was performed on Saturday afternoon by the Bishop, Mgr. H. Valtorta, D.D. in the presence of the clergy of the various Catholic orders in Hongkong, sisters from the local convents and many Catholic residents.

Addressing the gathering after the ceremony, His Lordship expressed joy at being able to lay the foundation stone and, commenting upon the limited accommodation at the Rosary Church, rejoiced in the fact that the new church was going to meet a great and pressing need in Kowloon. The Church would be a landmark and would help to enhance the beauty of the neighbourhood.

That Church, his Lordship said, was a worthy homage to St. Theresa of the Child Jesus, the Little Flower. This new Saint had a providential mission to fulfil, and that was to teach the world, which was at present leading a luxurious life and trying to turn from God, how to love God with the simplicity of a child, with the certainty that this loving Father of ours would one day take us to heaven.

Personally, he said, he was greatly indebted to St. Theresa. When he was made Bishop, he was sent a relic of the Saint and ever since then St. Theresa had become the Patroness of this Mission. She had helped him when in personal danger and she had also helped the Mission.

Church Survives.

At Hoifung, during the Communist troubles, many villages were sacked, over 200 persons killed, and Churches and Convents pillaged and burned. His Lordship was in one Catholic village which numbered about 500 strong. When the Communists came, it was a question of deciding either to go or to resist. The latter course was a hopeless one, so they evacuated.

Before leaving, the Bishop put a picture of St. Theresa in the foundation of the Church, and right through the Communist reign of terror in Hoifung, that Church and that village remained unharmed and not a single villager was killed. A bomb did burst at the feet of a Christian of the village, but he was absolutely unharmed. In another case a bomb burst in the hands of a Christian and a fragment entered his eye, but he did not lose his sight, and a week later the fragment came out on its own.

After thanking those who had contributed towards the building fund, Bishop Valtorta appealed for further assistance and ex-

RED MENACE TO AMOY

MISSIONARIES BEING WITHDRAWN

The Naval authorities yesterday issued the following statement as to the situation at Amoy:

Situation is quiet, but a little anxiety is beginning to be felt at Amoy because of rumours of intended Communist demonstrations. Communists are reported to be five miles from Sung Sui, while Communist handbills were distributed last night in Kulangsu.

Reports from up-country are very conflicting. This message, which bore Saturday's date, was received from H.M.S. Devonshire which is at present stationed at Amoy.

Japanese Reports.

Tokyo, Apr. 23. Reports to the Navy Office state that 50,000 refugees have poured in to Amoy as a result of the fall of Changchow to the rebels. The price of foodstuffs in Amoy is soaring and financial confusion has been created by the banks transferring their hoards of silver to Kulangsu. —Reuter.

Missionaries Leave.

Peking, Apr. 23. Owing to the rebel threat against Tungan, five American missionaries with three children, evacuated Tungan to-day, where General Chang Chen's Chief-of-Staff, Han Hui-kung, is reorganising the defeated Government troops.

The rebels have captured Chaowei and probably Kiowei, fifteen miles to the East of Changchow. —Reuter.

BABY THREATENED.

GENE TUNNEY WARNED BY GANGSTERS

New York, Apr. 23. Gangland is apparently unperturbed by the outcry against the Lindbergh baby kidnapping outrage, as the latest object of their attention is Gene Tunney, ex-heavyweight champion of the world, who has received a note threatening to kidnap his five-month-old son.

Early last month, while the Tunneys were at Bermuda, they were also obliged to seek Police protection for their child.

pressed a wish to see a Hongkong-born Catholic become a priest. He pointed out that locally born men had the advantage of knowing the language of the people and of being used to the climate. Those present were the guests at a tea party given by members of the Little Flower Club, whose Patron Saint is St. Theresa.

KAMURA DIVISION SENT TO NORTHERN MANCHURIA

Meningitis Victim At Large

ESCAPES FROM HOSPITAL

A most unusual occurrence was reported to the police this morning when the matron of the Isolation Hospital at Kennedy Town notified that a Chinese patient, suffering from meningitis, escaped from the institution.

It appears that the man, who is of the coolie class, named Chun Sam, and aged 26 years, was admitted to the hospital eight days ago, and that he had from the start resented being confined to the institution. In fact, he has on more than one occasion threatened to escape.

He appears to have got out of the institution at about two o'clock this morning, and at the time of his escape he is said to have been wearing hospital clothing.

The man is described as of a fairly appearance, and his face, shoulders and arms are covered with rash, an outward evidence of the disease from which he was suffering.

WORLD'S RECORD SILK SALE

HEAVY LOSS TO TOKYO GOVERNMENT

Tokyo, Apr. 25. The largest sale of raw silk in history is reported in the vernacular newspapers this morning.

The Japanese Government is selling 180,000 bales to American interests at a very low price, the silk involved being that which the government took off the market in 1930 in the hope that they would succeed in bolstering the price.

The loss on the sale is estimated to be at least 100,000,000 yen.—Reuter.

UNITED STATES AND SOVIET

RECOGNITION IDEA REJECTED

Washington, Apr. 24. It is authoritatively learned that the United States Government have no intention officially of recognizing the Soviet despite the recent agitation requesting the re-establishment of diplomatic and commercial relations with Russia was introduced in the House of Representatives on Friday.—Reuter.

"TO ASSIST IN SUPPRESSION OF REBELS"

ANDACHIAN RAID

(“Telegraph” Special).

Harbin, Apr. 25. As a sequel to a threatened strike of Chinese Eastern Railway employees as a protest against the arrest of their fellow-workers on charges of complicity in terrorist plots, the manager, Mr. Rudy, has issued a stern warning against any such course.

Several heads of department in the Chinese Eastern Railway management are in custody.

The chaotic state of Northern Manchuria is being impressed more deeply by serious incidents daily. A thousand bandits have raided and looted the Chinese Settlement near Andachian, and have taken twenty-four merchants as prisoners for ransom.—Reuter.

JAPANESE OPERATIONS

Tokyo, Apr. 25. Instead of returning to Korea to-morrow as scheduled, Major-General Kamura's Thirty-Ninth Mixed Brigade has been ordered to proceed to North Manchuria to assist in the suppression of the activities of bandits and insurgents.

The operations of the various forces hostile to the Manchukuo Government are becoming increasingly disturbing.

BRIGADE TO DIVIDE

A message from Changchun announces that the Kamura Brigade passed through the Manchukuo capital this morning, and states that part of the Brigade is proceeding to Kirin and Tunchun and the remainder to Harbin.

The decision to keep the Kamura Brigade in Manchuria means that the Japanese forces there have been increased by two divisions, as the 8th and 10th Divisions recently arrived in Manchuria to relieve the Kamura force.—Reuter.

SANCHAE LOOTED

TWO RUSSIANS KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

Harbin, Apr. 25. A wild orgy of looting and destruction followed a successful attack by Kirin insurgents on the town of Sanchae, thirteen miles to the north of Taolaiho, yesterday morning.

A goods train which was passing the station was fired upon and immediately afterwards brought to destruction, two Russian members of the train crew being killed and three seriously injured.

The insurgents entered the city of Sanchae without meeting with resistance, pretending when challenged that they were troops loyal to the Manchukuo Government.

They were a party of over a thousand strong and were described as “demoralised.”

STREET FIGHTING.

As soon as they were within the city walls, they attacked the Manchukuo garrison and heavy street fighting, in which machine-guns played a prominent part, followed.

After a bitter fight lasting over two hours, in which over fifty were killed and four or five times that number wounded, the defenders were defeated and routed and fled.

The raiders then proceeded to a systematic looting of the city, the terrible outrages being committed. They paid attention first to the till at the railway station, taking everything away.

Heavy fire was opened upon a goods train which attempted to pass the station. Those aboard emerged unscathed from this ordeal, but the train was soon afterwards derailed owing to the removal of the fishplates.

CRASH OVER EMBANKMENT.

The locomotive and twelve wagons crashed down an embankment and were absolutely wrecked, while other cars were badly damaged.

Owing to the fact that the telegraph wires have been cut, news of the mishap did not reach Harbin until 8.30 p.m. Last night, upon which a breakdown train was immediately despatched to the scene.—Reuter.

WILL POSSIBLY BE LEFT BEHIND

(Special to “Telegraph”)

Shanghai, Apr. 25. A distinct possibility that Dr. Wellington Koo will be left behind by the League Commission is mentioned in this morning's China Press, in a despatch from its Mukden correspondent.

It is believed, the message states, that tremendous embarrassment has been caused to the League Commission by Dr. Koo's presence, and it is felt that it is unnecessary and hampering for the investigation of the situation in Manchuria.

FACE SAVED.

It is felt that as Dr. Wellington Koo has already saved his face by setting foot on Manchurian soil, it does not matter if he does not accompany Lord Lytton and his colleagues any further.

The Manchukuo Government is at present communicating with the League of Nations regarding Dr. Wellington Koo, despite the fact that it cannot possibly be recognised by the League, at this juncture at all events.—Reuter.

FOUNDER SHARE CONVERSION

BANK OF EAST ASIA APPLICATION

Finding that having two classes of shares—founders' shares and ordinary shares—did not result in smooth working of the Company, an application which, in effect, meant the conversion of founders' shares to ordinary shares was made on behalf of the Bank of East Asia, Limited, in the Supreme Court this morning, before the Chief Justice (Sir Joseph Kemp).

Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K.C., instructed by Messrs. Deacons, applied for (1) modification of the Memorandum of Association, and (2) a scheme of an arrangement.

Counsel pointed out that there were 14 founder shares, all of which were issued, and they had preferential rights both financial and otherwise under the Memorandum of Association. Their value was $100 each.

It was desired to convert the founders' shares to ordinary shares which would be conducive to smooth working of the Company, and by such conversion all special privileges of the founders' shares would be cancelled except that the original founder shareholders would retain the right to be permanent Directors of the Company.

Founder shareholders, continued Mr. Jenkin, would be compensated for the loss of their rights by payment of a sum of money out of the Company's reserve fund, but this would be paid to Sir Shouping Chow as trustee, for the purpose of buying a large number of ordinary shares which would be taken over by the founder shareholders.

Counsel further explained that two meetings of the Company had been held at which resolutions in agreement had been unanimously passed, and none of the creditors would be affected because the money which would be used was not the Company's capital.

Remarking that there was satisfactory ground for approval of the modification and the scheme of arrangement, his Lordship granted the application in a form to be submitted by counsel.

ENTIRE MEETING DETAINED

New Delhi, Apr. 24. The firm hand has seldom been shown in India with more dramatic effect than at New Delhi to-day when the Indian National Congress attempted to hold its annual session in spite of official prohibition.

Every delegate who reached the meeting place and a great many who did not, were placed under arrest.

Over 600 Arrests.

The police soon got wind of the meeting and speedily intervened, arresting every participant, totalling about 150.

Later in the day, a further 219

arrests were made, bringing up the total of arrests in the past four days in connexion with the Congress to 630.

Prior to the intervention of the police in the meeting, the participants of which claimed to be an open meeting of the forty-seventh session of the Indian National Congress, the gathering adopted several resolutions.

Congress Goal.

One of the resolutions passed re-affirmed that the goal of Congress is complete independence for India and expressing confidence in the Mahatma Gandhi as the sole Dictator.

The meeting also approved of the resolution passed by the Working Committee of Congress in Bombay, regarding the re-launching of the civil disobedience movement and the boycott of British goods.

ONE OF ACCUSED PLEADS GUILTY

NOT ACCEPTED BY COURT

The first of two murder cases was commenced at the Criminal Sessions this morning before the Puisne Judge (Mr. Justice Wood), this relating to the killing of Tsang Tai-kai, alias Tsang King-kai at or near the road leading from Victoria Gap to Pokfulam on February 18, 1932.

There are four prisoners, these being Cheung Man, alias Cheung Ngo-wai, alias Cheung Hon-ching, alias Wong Hoi, alias Li Ki-kwong, alias Wan, Cheung Teze-san and Cheung Sap-fu, but in the interests of justice it was decided to take the case of Cheung Iu-wah separately from the others and, accordingly, he was alone in the dock this morning when the case against him was started.

Mr. T. M. Hazlerigg is for the Crown and Mr. Somerset Fitzroy, instructed by Mr. J. M. D'Almada Remedios, is defending.

Plea of Guilty.

When asked to plead, accused pleaded guilty.

His Lordship:—You are charged with killing Tsang Tai-kai. Now, if you did kill him, you have a right to plead guilty, but if you did not, you should plead not guilty. You are entitled to have all the witnesses called and have the case proved. Now, will you plead again. Do you plead guilty or not guilty?

Prisoner:—I plead guilty.

His Lordship:—You understand what you are doing; that if you plead guilty I must pass a death sentence upon you?

Prisoner again pleaded guilty.

Mr. Hazlerigg pointed out that an amendment to the Criminal Procedure Ordinance was passed last year, which gave the trial judge the power to make a plea of guilty into a plea of not guilty. Counsel added he would ask his Lordship to exercise that power in the case as there were legal points which arose of necessity which would require very careful consideration.

Addressing prisoner, his Lordship said:—I propose, in spite of what you have said, to enter a plea of not guilty and to hear the evidence.

The following jury was empanelled:—Messrs. O. B. Raven (foreman), A. J. Osmund, G. L. Brandt, C. Pryce, A. C. Homend de Carvalho, A. M. Macaulay and J. B. Koster.

Mr. Hazlerigg, after explaining it had been thought desirable in the interests of justice to try Cheung Iu-wah apart from the others, said the case for the Crown was that prisoner and his associates named in the indictment came from Canton to Hongkong with a pre-arranged plan to kidnap the son of some wealthy man and to extort ransom from relatives for his release.

Writing Material Found.

Mr. Hazlerigg explained how the plotters got into touch with Tsang Tai-kai and how they all proceeded down the roadway for about a quarter of a mile, at Victoria Gap. Weapons were produced and Tsang was taken into some bushes. It seemed that there was some attempt to write a letter to his father because, beyond the spot where the body was found, certain writing material was discovered, similar to such material afterwards found in possession of prisoner's associates.

It seemed probable that Tsang managed to break away from his captors, because he was certainly murdered some 15 yards nearer to the road than the spot where the papers were found. The part which prisoner and his associates played in the murder was told by the evidence and locality would show that the kidnappers never intended that Tsang should live, whether the ransom money were paid or not.

The case is proceeding.

ENTERTAINMENT TAX PROTEST

LONDON PLANS ACTION

(Reuter's Special Service).

London, Apr. 24. The heavy losses suffered by the cinema trade since the emergency budget of last year increased the Entertainments Taxes have at last stirred the exhibitors to strong protest.

There is a possibility that practically every cinema in the country may soon be closed for twenty-four hours as a mark of indignation of the entertainments tax upon cinema seats priced up to 6d.

So serious has been the effect of this tax on box office receipts that the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association, in a statement issued to-day, expresses fear that five hundred cinema theatres may have to close down permanently.

PARIS PRECEDENT.

The Association has decided to send representatives to Paris next week to investigate the effects of the recent tax strike, which closed all places of entertainment in Paris.

Mr. Reginald Crow, ex-President of the Association, in an interview said that the cinema trade agreed to the imposition of the tax as a wartime measure and every Chancellor of the Exchequer since had promised that it would be removed at the first opportunity.

PROFIT TURNED TO LOSS.

The tax had turned the profits of many theatres into losses.

The difference in profit and loss, on which income tax would either not be collected, or would have to be repaid, amounted to at least £3,600,000 per annum since the Entertainments Tax had been increased.

The Royal Observatory reports that the anticyclone to the north of the lower Yangtze Valley has strengthened considerably. The depression is moving north-eastward and is now central to the north of Hokkaido. Local forecast:—N.E. winds, fresh to moderate; overcast, mist and rain.

bandkerchief into Tsang's mouth to stifle the cries, after which the murder was committed and the party returned to town.

When prisoner was arrested, he took the police to the spot where the murder had been committed and there the body was found.

Ransom Demands.

Mr. Hazlerigg also dealt with two letters demanding $10,000 ransom, one of which was signed by Cheng Piu and the other purported to be written by deceased. Actually, both were written after he had died.

They were delivered to deceased's father's house at Shaokwan by Cheung Sap-fu and prisoner, but Cheung Sap-fu was arrested while prisoner, who did not go inside the house, escaped but was arrested later.

Mr. Hazlerigg explained the case for the Crown was not that prisoner, himself, with his own hands, murdered Tsang, but that he had gone with the others, knowing that something unlawful was going to happen; he was there to help and actively assisted his associates by stifling Tsang's cries with a handkerchief. The Crown submission would, therefore, be that he was equally guilty with the others of the murder, especially as the evidence and locality would show that the kidnappers never intended that Tsang should live, whether the ransom money were paid or not.

The case is proceeding.

HITLER WINS—AND LOSES

DIET ELECTION RESULTS

ENORMOUS NAZI INCREASES

Berlin, Apr. 25.

Sensational successes the Nazis all over the country evidence the rapidity with which Hitler is gaining adherents. The elections were the cause of much bitter fighting and fierce faction fighting occurred in many places.

One Nazi supporter was dead by Communists in Berlin another Nazi was stabbed to death at Hamburg.

It is believed that those the only election fatalities, though many people were seriously wounded in the widespread faction fights, which necessitated hundreds of arrests by the police.

PLANE ATTACKED.

Grave trouble had been anticipated and the police everywhere on duty in full many of them armed with blines.

At Dusseldorf, the pilot of a Nazi propaganda plane was forced landing and was handled by Communist assassins who attempted to burn the machine.

The result of the election is finally known, but it has emerged that the Nazis have secured a brilliant success.

COMMUNIST CONTROL.

In Prussia, eighty per cent of the votes have been counted, the Opposition 188 seats against 156 for the Government. Of the Opposition seats, 149 held by the Nazis.

The Communist successes not been included in the Opposition ranks. The Communists secured 52 seats and are like to hold the balance of power in Diet.

NAZI TRIUMPHS.

The final results of the elections in Bavaria, Anhalt, Thuringia and Wurttemberg show everywhere the Nazis have phenomenal gains, while in still incomplete returns in Prussia, the Nazis have increased their seats from 9 to 160!

The co-operation of Nationalist allies will enable Nazis to form the Government in Anhalt, while the attitude of Centre Party will be the deciding factor in Wurttemberg.

In Hamburg and Bavaria there will be no government change though in Bavaria, the Nazis doubled their votes.—Reuter.

VICTORY AND DEFEAT

Later.

Hitler has both won and lost. Despite the immense Nazi gains in Prussia, the probable outcome is that the present government and Otto Braun will carry on a minority government with the help of the Communists.

The feature of the Prussian elections was the complete collapse of the German National Party, People's Party, the Social Party and the State Party in Hamburg. The Communists lost heavily.

The Nazis gained over 100 votes in Berlin, while 200 votes were lost in Prussia, whole on freak parties.

PRINCE ELECTED.

One of the Nazi deputies elected in Prussia was Prince A. Wilhelm, the ex-Kaiser's fourth son.

The provisional final list of the Prussian Diet elections, the Government parties to the Diet, 200. One hundred and sixty-two Nazis are included. The Communists, who probably support the government, obtained 67 seats, and other three.—Reuter.

BRIDGE.

By W. E. McKenney.

Secretary, American Bridge
League.

Partner has practically said that he can support almost any bid that you make, or he can continue with the no trump, therefore if you hold a strong five-card major suit, you should bid three rather than two and partner will either go back to his no trump or will support your bid to four. If you were to bid only two hearts, you would say to partner, "I really believe we will lose less tricks playing this hand at two hearts than you will playing it at one no trump."

Of course, if you were to bid two hearts and that was the only weak spot in partner's hand, he would go two no trump, or he might even jump the contract to three no trump as he knows that you have denied any real supporting strength and he cannot depend upon you to raise his contract of two no trump to three. However, there are very few hands that it pays for partner to go back to no trump as you have denied with a suit, and more especially he should be warned against going to three no trump over your two of a suit bid.

When you overcall partner's original one no trump with three of a major, you advise him that your hand contains a good five-card suit or a very strong four-card major suit, and at least a side ace or king. You further inform partner that you wish him to take you to four of your suit, or if this is the weak spot in his hand, to go to three no trump.

When you take partner out of his original one no trump bid with three of a minor, you show a long minor suit or at least a strong five-card suit with a side ace or king, and you demand that partner carry the contract, to three no trump or to support your minor. While it is very seldom that hands of this type will produce five odd with a minor suit where they will not produce three odd at no trump, nevertheless there are a few hands that game can be made only in the minor suit.

If your hand contains just a fair five-card minor suit and sufficient count for three no trump, it is far better to raise partner to three no trump than to show the weak minor suit. When partner opens with an original one no trump and the opponent puts in an intervening suit bid and your hand contains a good four or five-card suit and sufficient strength to support partner's no trump but does not have the suit of the opponents stopped, you should show your suit. This will show partner a hand containing strength and he can select whether to support your suit or, if he has the opponents' suit stopped, to continue with his no trump; e.g. partner bids one no trump, opponent overcalls with two diamonds.

If you bid two hearts, you show partner not a weak two-of-a-suit take out, but a hand containing at least one and one-half quick tricks, but not having the diamonds stopped, and furthermore, your hand is not strong enough to go to three hearts. If partner were now to respond with two no trump, he would be denying support for your heart bid and would be further stating that he had the diamonds stopped. Now if you

The fortnightly meeting of the Sanitary Board will be held to-morrow at 4.15 p.m. The agenda includes the following items:

Letters from Government relative to the amendment of the following By-laws: (a) Aerated Water Manufactories, (b) Dairies, (c) Bakeries, (d) Laundries, (e) Food-preserving Establishments.

Letter from Government relative to the Conditions of Grant governing premises specially licensed under Section 78 of the Public Health and Buildings Ordinance, 1903, for the sale of food usually sold in a market.

Letter from Government relative to the reorganization of modern lines of the Medical and Sanitary Services of the Colony.

Letter from Government relative to the burial of the bodies of Naval ratings of non-commissioned rank in the Colonial Cemetery.

Questions.

Dr. R. A. de Castro Basto, pursuant to notice, will ask:

"Will the Head of the Sanitary Department kindly obtain the necessary particulars in reply to the following questions for the information of this Board viz.:

i. As the causative organism of Cerebro-spinal Meningitis has been found to belong to several groups or types, has there been any attempt at typing the organisms isolated from the cases occurring in the present epidemic?

ii. If this has not been done, will the Government consider doing so immediately?

iii. If on the other hand, this has already been done, which is the particular type of meningococcus responsible for the greater number of cases occurring in this present outbreak?

iv. Is the corresponding anti-type serum (as distinct from the usual polyvalent serum) being prepared, and if not, will the Government consider its preparation with regard to the present epidemic, seeing that according to the latest researches it has been found that the mortality rate is greatly diminished when the 'type' of organism is known and the corresponding anti-serum employed?"

Resolution.

Dr. R. A. de Castro Basto, pursuant to notice, will move: "That in the opinion of this Board it is desirable in the public interest that more effective measures be taken to check the spread of the present outbreak of Cerebro-spinal Meningitis in the Colony, including the organisation of an intensive health propaganda campaign for the purpose of instructing the public both as regard the methods of prevention and cure of this disease."

Report of the Committee appointed to consider the proposed changes in the Estimates of the Sanitary Department and the proposed Public Works Extraordinary for the Sanitary Department for 1933.

Correspondence relative to the application for the erection of five European type water closets at No. 15, New Market Street and No. 8, Connaught Road West, on Marine Lot No. 422.

have sufficient count for three no trump, abandon the heart suit and bid three no trump.

You must remember that in overcalling an intervening bid by opponents with two hearts, you show a stronger type of hand than if you had bid two hearts over partner's one no trump with no intervening bid. Holding a weak hand with which you would have ordinarily taken partner out with two hearts if opponents had not bid, you should pass as partner is now in no danger.

Remember that in contract bridge it is essential to find out where the two hands fit best and the proper deductions can only be made by intelligent partnership bidding.

The dime-a-dance girl

BY JOAN CLAYTON

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beautiful Ellen Howler, a salaried in Barclay's Department Store, lives with her extravagant mother, Molly Howler, her elder sister, Mary, and her young brother, Mike. The two girls support the family. Molly foolishly spends money saved to pay the rent. Ellen decides to work nights at Dreamland as a dance hall hostess until the sum is made up. The hostesses must wear evening dresses and Ellen has none.

CHAPTER XV

Monday was sale day at Barclay's. Monday was the day the basement invariably reached its peak for the whole week. The girls dreaded Mondays. Most of them on Sunday critically examined the store advertisements to determine which counters were to be inundated. That particular Monday Ellen and Jenny Elkins, her counter mate, were the victims. Their counter drew a large and vociferous proportion of the crowd. Nineteen-cent cretonne, hundreds of bolts, apparently were passionately desired by every woman in New York.

Ellen as she mechanically cut lengths of gay coloured material and tossed them to the wrapper, as she tried vainly to keep some order among the bolts on the counter, as she again and again assured cross and weary shoppers that any one of the patterns was precisely what was wanted for summer draperies, had not a minute to think of herself or of Larry. She had dreamed of him the night before. No dream had a chance of survival at Barclay's on Monday Morning.

that Jenny Elkins, a little chatter-box of 19, was strangely silent. Ordinarily nothing could stop Jenny's active tongue. She was always talking and giggling between sales or during them, calmly oblivious of the fury of her customers. Ellen missed her cheerful chatter and her breathless confidences of what "the boy friend" had said or done the night before.

During a temporary lull, she ventured to move to Jenny's end of the counter to ask how she had spent the week-end.

The other girl continued making out her sales slip. Since Jenny did not speak, Ellen decided that she had not heard the question. She repeated it. Jenny raised a flushed face.

"Doing nothing much," she answered coolly.

"I haven't done anything to offend you, have I?" Ellen asked in surprise.

"Of course not," Jenny responded airily.

She tore off the sales slip, handed the carbon to her customer and affably urged the perspiring woman to come again to Barclay's. She was so affable that the customer looked a bit startled as she hurried away. She was less startled than Ellen. Ellen knew how Jenny felt about customers.

Unfortunately at that moment her attention was diverted by a renewed run on cretonnes. She was compelled to dash back to her own place. Eventually she decided to ask Jenny to lunch with her. She really preferred to lunch alone, but she had no intention of permitting her counter-mate to sulk over an imaginary injury.

At the stroke of 12 and before Ellen had a chance to speak, Jenny disappeared. That was odd, too. Generally there was some casual discussion of luncheon plans. No dream had a chance of survival at Barclay's on Monday Morning.

and caught up with Jenny who was making her way to the rest room. "I'll set you up to lunch if you don't go over 50 cents," she offered guilefully, knowing how broke Jenny invariably was.

"Sorry," answered Jenny.

"Look here," Ellen began suddenly and with spirit, "if you're annoyed with me over something I insist that you tell me what it is."

The stairs were full of hurrying girls. All at once Ellen was possessed of the notion that Jenny did not wish to be seen with her. Certainly she was galloping up the stairs in an unusual manner.

"Tell me," she urged again.

"It's nothing," Jenny responded sulkily.

"It is too, or you wouldn't act this way," Ellen persisted. "You're not in such a hurry as all this. Let's stop a moment."

She walked through the door at the second floor and into the practically deserted furniture department. After a long glance at the stairs and a fearful, fascinated glance at Ellen's back, Jenny followed.

"Now, out with it," Ellen said. Jenny was plainly embarrassed. She looked at Ellen uncomfortably, started to speak but instead locked her lips in stubborn silence. As she regained her composure Ellen saw with growing nervousness that Jenny had assumed a look of covert curiosity as though there were something new and disturbing about Ellen which she had never seen before.

"I've always liked you, Ellen," she said at last weakly, "but a girl has to think of her reputation."

LEGALITY OF NEWCASTLE GOAL DOUBTED

London, Apr. 23.
 Newcastle United deservedly beat Arsenal at Wembley, but a great controversy is raging in England in connection with the first goal scored by Newcastle. The Press are unanimous in their views that Allen's first point was illegal, but the referee is adamant.
 At the conclusion of the match His Majesty the King presented the Cup to the captain of the Newcastle United.

The attendance of 92,000 spectators represented gate receipts of £25,000.
 The game was fast, sporting and a typical Cup game.

In the match at Ayresome Park between Middlesbrough and Everton the referee sustained concussion and had to be taken off the field.

MOTHER AND BROTHER AT SHANGHAI CEREMONY

Shanghai, Apr. 24.
 Amid every sign of respect and gratitude, thousands of Chinese gathered at the Hungjiao cemetery, in sight of the Chinese aerodrome, to-day to attend the funeral of Robert Short, the American airman who was killed in an aerial battle with the Japanese over So-chow in February. The Chinese Government was officially represented, together with many Chinese public bodies.

Short's mother and brother, who had travelled especially from America to attend the funeral, were the pathetic central figures of the ceremony, which was preceded by a memorial service in the American church here.

ST. GEORGE &amp; SHAKESPEARE COMMEMORATED

London, Apr. 23.
 The Feast of St. George, England's patron saint, and the memory of the immortal William Shakespeare are being celebrated to-day throughout the country.

Shakespeare's birth-place at Stratford on Avon is the centre of the chief celebrations and the picturesque town was gaily decorated for the reception of the representatives of over 70 nations, who had come to do homage to Shakespeare's memory.

The Prince of Wales flew from Windsor to take part in the ceremonies which included the opening by His Royal Highness of the new Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, which has been erected on the banks of the Avon River.

A luncheon presided over by the Mayor of Stratford and attended by the representatives of all the leading nations of the world, preceded the ceremony at the Theatre and to-night the first performance in the Theatre will be given when the first part of Henry the Fourth is being staged in the presence of the Prince.—British Wireless.

BRITAIN'S TARIFFS.

SIR HERBERT AUSTIN'S TIMELY WARNING

London, Apr. 23.
 British Industrial leaders generally welcome the new tariff, though Sir Herbert Austin gave a word of warning when he expressed the opinion that duties should have been made consequent on the industries themselves undertaking not to increase prices, and that any protection would be fatal.

Next week promises a flood of sectional trade meetings and a flock of deputations to the House of Commons. There will also be a two-day debate on the new tariffs.

French opinion regards the new tariff as excessive, declaring that Britain is now the most protectionist country in Europe, and that it furnishes Germany with an excuse for demanding the annulment of war debts on the ground that if she can't export she can't pay. The hope is expressed, but without conviction, that Britain's latest move is only a bargaining weapon.—Reuter's Special Service.

PRODUCTION TO BE STILL MORE RESTRICTED

Paris, Apr. 24.
 A further cut of 20,000 tons annually from June 1 has been un-unanimously recommended by the International Tin Committee to Bolivia, Malaya, the Dutch East Indies and Nigeria. This is a substitute for the cut of 8,420 tons of March 22.
 The next meeting will be held on May 20.—Reuter.

"IRONSIDES" AT THE FRONT

CHINESE TROOPS ON THE MOVE

Shanghai, Apr. 23.
 The Evening Post and Mercury learns that the advance guards of General Chang Fat-kwal's famous "Ironsides" have arrived in the vicinity of Hangchow, where preparations are being made for the arrival of the main force, which travelled on foot from Kwangsi, from where they set out two months ago.

The Evening Post and Mercury says that the number of the troops in the Hangchow area is swelling daily with the arrival of fresh units and estimates that 20,000 men are already there.

It declares that trains filled with troops are again daily on the Shanghai-Ningpo Railway, along which every station is occupied by soldiers.

The newspaper adds that preparations are being made to provide shelter in Soochow for the 19th Army, in the event of their falling back from Quinsan. Dug-outs and entrenchments are being constructed with bricks taken from Sochow's ancient walls, and other military preparations are being made.—Reuter.

Lytton Mission

Tokyo, Apr. 23.

The League Commission is most worried, according to the Mukden Press, owing to the Manchukuo authorities' refusal to accord a formal interview or to allow Dr.
 Wellington Koo to accompany the Commission outside the Japanese zone.

The Manchukuo Government is indignant because the Commission entered Manchuria without formal notification of their visit, thus ignoring its existence as an independent state.

According to the Tokyo Foreign Office, Japan is unable to guarantee Dr. Koo's safety if he leaves the railway zone or even goes outside the South Manchuria Railway zone to the north of Changchun, though ready to do her best to protect him.

A Changchun message states that Manchukuo has sent notes to the League of Nations and the English and American Governments regarding the Wellington Koo question and the Commission visiting Manchuria without notifying the Government thereof.—Reuter.

Another Member Joins

Wei-hai-wei, Apr. 23.
 Acting on instructions received from the British Legation, the British Consul, Mr. G. S. Moss, has sailed for Dairen to join the Lytton Commission as Technical Adviser.

Mr. Moss was formerly Consul at Nanking and was transferred to Wei-hai-wei in November, but proceeded first to Chinchow as observer, and arrived here in the middle of January.—Reuter.

CHARGES LAID AGAINST EUROPEAN COUPLE

Shanghai, Apr. 24.
 It has been learned reliably that Mr. and Mrs. Noulens, who were arrested here last June, on information supplied by the Singapore authorities, as Communist, will be tried at the So-chow Court on charges of having attempted to overthrow the present Government.

If they are found guilty they may be sentenced to death. The prosecution alleges that the pair were connected with Chinese Communist in Hunan and Kiangsi.

 Mr. Inukai has granted the re-

BRITISH SPORTING IDEALS

The question arises every now and then whether British people are not unduly obsessed with considerations of sport to the relative exclusion of other and weightier matters. Here in Hongkong, sporting activities occupy a large part in the life of our young manhood and womanhood. From the standpoint of health, it is well that this should be so, since it has long been conceded that regular exercise is a necessity for all who would keep fit in the sub-tropics. But the point does arise whether or not sport is not given a disproportionate place, at the expense of other activities. When all is said and done, there is a danger in the East of mental as well as physical deterioration: a point which, we fear, is too often overlooked. The ideal to be kept in view is a more equal division of energy in both spheres.

Some little time back, Lord Gorell raised considerable argument by suggesting that the British people were paying far too much heed to sport. But in saying, as he did, that England was in danger of becoming too keen on the winning of championships and the setting up of records, and of paying more attention to the results and rewards of the game than to the game itself, he voiced a criticism that not only England but the greater part of the world might do well to consider. Perhaps it is too often forgotten that if a game is worth playing at all it is worth playing badly. Lord Gorell regarded as the English contribution to sport the fact that the "average Englishman is not a specialist," but "prides himself on being an all-round sportsman." There is a possibility that this contribution may become a thing of the past. The development of professionalism has led inevitably to the cultivation of specialized skill instead of all-round ability, and if England is to continue to make her peculiar contribution there will have to be a return to the days when more people played games and fewer people watched them. This fact, however, brings up an important practical difficulty. Some time ago there appeared in Punch a cartoon of an old gentleman saying to a young man who was about to enter a professional football ground, "When I was your age, I used to play football, not watch it." To which the youth replied, "When you were my age, you had a ground to play on." The number of playing pitches in Great Britain is still inadequate for the needs of the multitudes of those who would use them if they had the chance; and there is little social work more certain of doing

But it is one thing to provide playing fields for the masses, and another to place undue emphasis on competitive sport. Athletics admittedly deserve an honourable place even in our system of education: they receive it, in some centres as prominent a place as do academics. It is good that our youth should be imbued with the spirit underlying true sportsmanship, but not that the be-all and end-all of their school life should be sought on the sports ground. Let the happy medium be kept in view, based on a regard for sport merely for sport's sake: the inculcation of the idea to "play the game" in all spheres of life. This hitherto has been the British ideal: we owe it to our national traditions to see that the heritage is maintained.

Individual Freedom in Parliament

The small and attenuated Labour Opposition in the House of Commons naturally wishes to attain that driving power and concentration which comes of a high measure of order and discipline. But there are degrees of discipline that encroach unduly upon the sphere of individual freedom and most people will feel that Col. Josiah Wedgwood, Member for Newcastle-under-Lyme, is justified in his protest against the party's recent decision that all its members must agree to vote in accordance with the decision of the party meeting or of the whips on all matters not concerned with religion or liquor, even if this involves breaking a pledge to constituents. Colonel Wedgwood points out that only after a long struggle were debates in the House of Commons made public, thus enabling the electorate to keep fully informed as to the acts and motives of their representatives. But the proceedings at party meetings are secret, so that if the decision challenged were adhered to, constituents again would be kept in the dark as to the real opinions of their members. Moreover, the debates in Parliament would be robbed of whatever reality they at present possess, for the decision of one important section of the House and would have been irrevocably taken before the debate began. This could hardly fail to deal an irreparable blow at the prestige and efficiency of Britain's Government. But the consideration that should appeal with most force to the Labour Party is that such an agreement can scarcely fail to injure the party itself. Now, when it is so weak in Parliament, it needs more than ever before to recruit to its service men of determination of ability, and of original thought. Only so can it hope to regain its former position, let alone improve it. Yet nothing is so calculated to prevent the enlisting of such men under its banner as assuring them that if they do join it they will be mere voting dummies, unquestionably taking orders from a party caucus.

Arrested for hawking without a licence a man, who is known by the nickname of Kwong Ah-chai, was taken to the Kwong Wah Hospital yesterday. It is stated that the man related arrest and when taken to the Station it was found that he was suffering from a wound to the back of his head. The wound appears to have been inflicted some days previously during a fight in Bowring Street.

With two previous convictions against him, a Chinese who pleaded guilty before Mr. Wynne Jones at the Central Police Court this morning to a charge of stealing from a pedestrian in Queen's Road Central a purse containing $10 was sentenced to three months' hard labour and twelve strokes of the birch.

AIR-WIDOWER ANSWERED

By "PROP TORQUE"

AFTER reading the article in Thursday's Telegraph entitled "The Air-Widower," I feel that I cannot let certain statements pass without a challenge. At the beginning it appeared that this article was of a humorous nature but later criticism of aviation seemed to strike a more serious vein, and it is in reply to some of the allegations made against aeroplane manufacturers and the safety of modern aviation that I shall endeavour to show something of the true state of affairs.

The writer states that he has three definite objections to light plane flying, these being (1) speed, (2) visibility, and (3) noise. He alleges that manufacturers are not striving for safety, inasmuch as engine self-starters are not generally fitted; efforts are not being made to reduce the air speed at which an aeroplane is controllable, i.e. stalling speed, and that they are confining their energies to increase of speed. He also bewails lack of visibility—attributing many air collisions to lack of it, and another point made on the question of noise is that silencers are too heavy, and, therefore, cannot be used.

The article in itself was a splendid example of ignorance of aircraft construction and design, and designers' aims. The only conclusion to which I can come—and to which any other fair-minded critic with any accurate knowledge of the matter can come—is that the writer knows nothing whatsoever of present-day aviation and has most certainly never been inside a modern light aeroplane in the air, although he tries to give the impression that he has.

Starters.

His points can be answered quite briefly. As to self-starters, from the point of view of safety, they do not definitely add to safety because if an aero engine stops in the air it can be depended upon that the trouble is so serious that no amount of self-starting or hand-swinging the propeller will start it again until the trouble has been righted.

Secondly, except with high-compression racing engines, which are not embraced in the light plane category, the propeller can be turned by air pressure by putting the machine into a steep but nevertheless quite safe dive; if a pilot fears engine trouble he should never fly at such a low altitude as to prevent his diving. Then, again, self-starters are expensive and are only worthwhile considering by wealthy owners, or those who are too lazy or weak to swing a prop or turn a starting handle. The latter is fitted to nearly all modern light aeroplanes; they require very little effort to turn and by this means the engine can be started easily without touching the propeller or being in dangerous proximity to it.

As to speed, this is certainly one of the most important things that designers and manufacturers are striving for, but, and this is the point, not at the expense of increasing the stalling speed. High speeds mean greater advantage to commercial undertakings; greater lifting power from smaller wings.

giving bigger pay loads for smaller and consequently less costly machines for commercial purposes; greater stability in the air. All this means increasing the attraction of air travel and reducing costs to a point where a much larger public will be able to afford it. All this applies similarly to light privately-owned planes. The great advantage over all other means of transport of air travel is speed and this must be striven for of necessity, but it is not being done at the expense of anything else.

Speed.

While on the matter of speed, it is wrong to assume that if the speed of an aeroplane is increased, then the stalling speed must also be higher in proportion; also the totally erroneous idea that aeroplanes must make fast landings should be dispelled.

To take a concrete case, which can probably be tested out at Kai Tak with permission of the Hongkong Flying Club, I will refer to our Avro-Avian. Its top speed is 115 m.p.h. and stalling speed is 40 m.p.h. This means that when the wheels are just coming into contact with the ground when landing, the flow of air (or air speed) over the wings is 40 m.p.h. But an aeroplane is always landed into wind, and a wind of 100, there is a wind. At Kai Tak a wind of at least 10 m.p.h. can practically always be relied upon, but more often it is between 15 m.p.h. and 25 m.p.h.

When our Avian lands into a wind of 25 m.p.h. it means that a stalling speed (40 air m.p.h.) the speed over the ground is 40 air m.p.h. minus 25 m.p.h. the speed of the wind, which equals only 15 m.p.h., an extremely low figure. With the wind at 15 m.p.h., which is a good average, ground speed would be only 25 m.p.h.

In taking-off, the Avian would only need a run along the ground for a few yards to gain a ground speed of 15 to 25 m.p.h., which, together with the wind force, would give it flying speed. In average weather, the Club plane leaves the ground in a matter of only four or five seconds.

There are light planes on the British market with much lower stalling speeds. The Comper Swift touches 150 m.p.h. on full throttle but stalling stalls at only 28 m.p.h. The Redwing stalls at 35 m.p.h., and there are many others that I could mention.

Stalling.

Designers and manufacturers have undoubtedly made great strides in achieving two of their most important objects, (1) increased speed, and (2) reducing stalling speeds, and not at the expense of safety. A few years hence it is most likely that the average stalling speed will be as low as 15 or 20 m.p.h. The degree of controllability and safety of modern aircraft, at what would have been regarded not so very long ago as suicidically slow speeds, is nothing short of remarkable.

Further, as to stalling, what if a modern light plane does stall? It only means that the nose will drop as flying speed is lost until the machine is diving, and after only a few seconds, diving, air speed and full control will be regained. This, again, serves to emphasise the point that is drilled into every student—fly at a safe height. Also, a pupil who was not efficient enough to realise when his machine was stalling—it is quite a slow process in normal flying—would never be granted a licence and allowed to fly.

It is important to remember that speeds, and particularly stalling speeds, are always given as air speeds (i.e. the speed of the air flow round the wings) and not as ground speeds. Ground speed depends entirely upon the strength of the wind into which a take-off or landing is being made as deducted from the air speed.

For a writer to say, "I got in an aeroplane; I rose into the air and I saw absolutely nothing except streets and planes and bits of engine—occasionally I catch a glimpse of the horizon," is nothing short of ridiculous. Outside "blind" flying, a pilot must and does see the horizon, because unless a special instrument is fitted, which is nearly always not the case, he has to depend on the horizon to keep his machine level.

When I have flown at Kai Tak I have kept the nose of the machine on the horizon—the correct position at all altitudes for level flight—by looking at the horizon.

Collision Danger.

With regard to general visibility, it is such that if "A" is flying a machine and "B" is in another plane is near enough to be in dangerous proximity, "A" is bound to see "B" in ample time to avert a collision, unless "B" is above "A's" tail; in that case "B" is bound to see "A." Just as chauffeurs do not drive cars about with their eyes closed, so aeroplanes.

GARBO FILM AT THE QUEEN'S

There were crowded houses at the Queen's Theatre yesterday to witness the first screenings of "Susan Lenox," featuring Greta Garbo and Clark Gable. Opinions will probably differ regarding this film. The task of reducing the novel to film dimensions cannot have been an easy one, and this may account for the variations from the book as well as from the programme synopsis.

In parts, the film is truly great; in others, not so convincing. There can be no questioning the excellence of the acting, however, although we preferred Greta Garbo in "Anna Christie" to her work in this production. Clark Gable is good, as also are some of the minor characters, notably Jean Hersholt in the little that we see of him. On the whole, however, the story does not maintain the gripping nature of the original novel. Nevertheless, it is a film well worth seeing.

CONVICTS ATTACK ESCORT.

MAKE ESCAPE IN JUNGLE WITH RIFLES

Lahore, Apr. 24. Despite a most active search, so far no trace has been found of the 10 prisoners who escaped yesterday while being conveyed from Allgarh to Lahore.

Twenty-five prisoners attacked the police escort at Narwana, a small station between Delhi and Bathinda. The head constable was killed and another constable wounded. Ten prisoners escaped into the jungle with three police rifles and 60 rounds of ammunition. The remaining 15 were brought to Lahore.—Reuter.

Public Garden Reservoir

Area Being Put to Practical Use

GOOD PROGRESS

No-one visiting the lower terrace of the Botanical Gardens at the present time would imagine that six months ago the area was one of the most attractive spots in Hongkong—a magnificent stretch of well-kept turf, varied with beds of flowering plants and shrubs. To-day, as will be seen by the above picture, it resembles a huge crater studded with reinforced concrete pillars and steel work.

What has actually transpired is that the whole of this part of the Gardens has been dug up in order to make room for a capacious service reservoir in which will be stored millions of gallons of water brought across from Shing Mun by the cross-harbour pipeline. When the work is completed, the garden will be restored—but with the new reservoir underneath it.

Big Headway.

Work on this new reservoir was started in September last, and, as will be seen by our photograph, big headway is being made. Involving a cost of approximately a quarter of a million dollars, the reservoir is to occupy an area of 270 feet in length, 180 feet in width and 16 feet 6 inches in depth. Its capacity will be five million gallons of water.

The reservoir is to be divided into two approximately equal compartments by a gravity section division wall 10 feet 3 inches in height. The water, which will be filtered, will be kept pure by a reinforced concrete roof, supported by no fewer than 242 piers. The lavent is also composed of generally speaking of a length and width of 15 feet and 12 feet respectively, with "Y" joints. Provision is also being made for inlets and outlets and control houses.

Restoration Later.

The unique feature of the scheme is that when the reservoir has been completed, the Botanical Gardens will re-assume, more or less, their former appearance, laid out with nice flower beds and shrubbery, giving little outward sign of their being put to a more utilitarian use.

The flower garden will cover an area of no less than 100,000 square feet, while the slopes will be turfed. The contractors are Messrs. Yee Lao, who constructed Gloucester Building, and the under-taking is being supervised by the Waterworks Construction Department of the P.W.D.

WREATHS LAID ON CENOTAPH

The honour the memory of the men who fought and died on the Gallipoli Peninsula on April 25th, 1915, representatives of the Australian and New Zealand communities in Hongkong gathered in front of the Cenotaph this morning and laid wreaths at the foot of the monument.

Wreaths were also laid on behalf of the South Wales Borderers, the British Legion and the Royal Navy. Despite a heavily overcast sky and a drizzling rain there were more than 100 people present.

The whole ceremony was characterized by impressive simplicity. Two buglers from the South Wales Borderers sounded "The Last Post." As the notes died away, Messrs F. P. Franklin and C. De Saille Robertson, carrying a magnificent wreath on behalf of the Australian and New Zealand communities, walked slowly forward and deposited it at the base of the Cenotaph. On their left was Lieut.-Col. A. R. Godwin Austin who carried a wreath on behalf of the South Wales Borderers. The two tributes were laid simultaneously and the three bearers stepped back and stood at attention, the Lieutenant-Colonel saluting.

As they retired, wreaths on behalf of the British Legion and the Royal Navy were borne to the front by Commander E. G. Morris on behalf of the Navy and Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson on behalf of the British Legion.

Lieut. W. R. Miller, Regimental Sgt. Major G. Norma and Sergt. E. R. Jenkins, of the South Wales Borderers, who saw active service at the Dardanelles, were included in the official party.

As the last wreath was laid the buglers sounded the "Reveille." Military and naval members of the party stood at the salute, while the civilians remained bare-headed in silence for two minutes.

LAWN BOWLS.

TAIKOO RECREATION CLUB
BEGIN THEIR SEASON

Bowling members of the Tai Koo Recreation Club officially opened their Lawn Bowls season on Saturday afternoon, when eight teams composed of ladies and gentlemen were engaged in four rinks, playing over twenty heads.

A very interesting game was witnessed, and eventually the "A" team emerged winners over the "B" team by 85 shots to 50.

Among those who took part in the game were Mr. K. E. Greig, President of the Club, and Mr. A. R. H. Phillips, Vice-President.

Mr. James Stewart, the Chairman of the Lawn Bowls section, called upon Mrs. Phillips to present silver spoons to the winning rinks. In doing so he said that if the enthusiasm displayed that afternoon were maintained throughout the season they could be assured of a very successful record. He also remarked upon the progress the ladies were making in the game.

Mr. K. E. Greig endorsed what Mr. Stewart had said regarding the success of the ladies, and added that he would like to see more younger members take to the game.

The results were:

MAMAK HOCKEY

POLICE DEFEATED BY C.B.A.

On the Marina Ground on Sunday, the C.B.A. met and defeated the Police in the Mamak Hockey tournament by 6 goals to 2. The game verged on the rough side and was void of interest. The C.B.A. did not have things all their own way, as the score would seem to indicate. The Police were unlucky not to have scored more often.

On Wednesday, at 5.15 p.m. on the Radio Ground at Caroline Hill, St. Andrew's will play off their final fixture in the competition against the Incognitos. Both teams are well up in the League table and a very interesting encounter can be anticipated. The referees will be Cpl. Knight and Cpl. Timmins.

Friendly Games

The Radio Sports Club entertained H.M.S. Cumberland at Caroline Hill on Saturday and won by five clear goals. G. Singh, the Radio centre-forward, scored on three occasions. The encounter was fast throughout, the Cumberland defence putting in some good work.

On the same ground, the Police met the German Club and won by six goals to nil.

JIU-JITSU HONOURS.

PROF. MAURICIO'S PUPILS

The following pupils who took up a complete course in Jiu-Jitsu and Self-Defence and Attacked a few months ago, were awarded "diplomas" by Professor Mauricio at the Mauricio College of Physical Education on Saturday, April 23 after the final lesson was given at 8.30 p.m.

Four members of H.M.S. Cumberland were included in the class. Messrs. H. J. Jackson, C. Stollery, D. Long and G. A. W. Payne. These four practised among themselves and they were as rough as they were scientific. Now and again they exchanged partners with the lighter pupils.

Mr. M. Remedios of the Gas Company shared most of his brilliant practices with Mr. Ramon S. Alberto, an outstanding amateur boxer and Jiu-Jitsu who is now on his way to the United States to complete his Aviation Course.

Two others who were just as good were Li Ka Lok, a student of Queen's College who spent most of his time with Kwok Pui Fai ex-pupil of Wah Yan College. Although they were of different weights, they found no difficulty in doing the most advanced tricks. Several tumbling tricks were shown to the pupils during their spare time in which all partook with great eagerness.

INTERPORT TRIAL

PROBABLES TEAM PUT UP
A FINE SHOW

The first of the Interport cricket matches to select the players who are to represent Hongkong against Shanghai at the latter port was played on the Hongkong Cricket Club ground on Saturday.

E. J. R. Mitchell led a team of Probables against a side captained by Alan Reid. The Probables put up a good showing, and on the afternoon's play were the more balanced side.

J. E. Richardson and E. Zimmern opened the innings for the Probables. Richardson was the first to go, when he failed to stop a full toss from Gosano, the ball striking the bottom of his bat and tickling the wicket. E. F. Fincher joined Zimmern, and both batsmen settled down to careful cricket. They advanced the score to 36 when Zimmern was bowled by Alan Reid with a fine length ball which broke in from the leg.

L. T. Kide did not stay long, being caught by P. Madar off his own bowling, the bowler taking a low catch with his left hand. Mitchell and Fincher then advanced the score to 86 runs before Fincher was bowled by Gosano. Fincher played a fine innings, characterized by some good drives on the off side.

Madar settled down to careful cricket, meeting the ball with the full face of the bat, and not taking any undue risks. Mitchell retired when he had scored 36 runs. He was missed on three occasions. He was particularly hard on P. Madar, driving him a number of times straight over the bowler's head to the boundary.

Pereira and Burnett lived the latter half of the innings, the latter hitting two sixes off A. A. Rumjahn in one over. The total of 160 runs put up by the Probables was the result of some consistent scoring, four batsmen topping the twenty mark.

Lt. A. C. Hamilton kept a very good length, and varied his bowling pace cleverly. His four wickets for 28 runs was the best bowling performance of the afternoon.

Reid's Eleven Bat.

N. A. E. Mackay and A. A. Rumjahn, who opened the innings for Reid's side, adopted very careful methods, and were content to "sit on the stumps" against the bowling of Pereira and Minu. When the score read 13 runs, Pereira pierced

CHARITY FOOTBALL

SERVICES DEFEATED BY

Two football games were staged at Caroline Hill by the South China A.A. in aid of Naval and Military Charities yesterday. The attendance was good. In addition to the two matches, the Fifes and Drums of the South Wales Borderers, by kind permission of Col. G. T. Ranken D.S.O. and Officers, played selections on the field before the start of the first match, and during the intervals.

The match ball was drawn for, the winning ticket No. 210 being purchased by Mr. J. R. Sutter, of the Pharmacy, and he very kindly handed it back to the Association to be again disposed of, the proceeds being added to the fund. Mr. Wong Kwong-tin kicked off for South China in the Senior game. The Chinese won by the only goal scored.

Mackay's defence with a ball which shot like a bullet, giving the batsmen no chance.

The scoring was trifle slow, but was controlled by circumstances. Beck, who took over from Minu at the Naval Yard end, whipped Rumjahn's balls off with a perfect delivery. Rumjahn played a staid innings, punishing only the loose deliveries. E. L. Gosano was unfortunate, to be run out. He was shaping well, though Beck had him guessing at times. McLellan and Hamilton both played very well, the latter executing two particularly fine shots off Beck, the ball being hit just past his legs backward to fine leg. He was eventually caught at extra cover, Minu bringing off a very fine catch. McLellan, though cautious, made some nice placements to leg. He was unfortunate to "play on" to Burnett. Patterson and Foley did not stay long, and it looked as if the Probables were going to snatch a victory, but Duckitt and E. G. Fincher played out time.

The bowling was very even, Pereira and Burnett each getting two wickets, and Madar and Beck one each. Minu kept a good length in his first spell, but was unlucky. He made up, however, in his fielding. Madar, though taking only one wicket, kept an irreproachable length, and worried the batsmen with his medium spin deliveries. He bowled four overs, three of which were maidens, and took one wicket for five runs.

WOMAN STRANGLED

MURDERED IN CUBICLE
DURING NIGHTThe murder by strangulation of
a young Chinese female at 86,
Portland Street, during the early
hours of yesterday morning is engaging the attention of the Police,
who are searching for a man sur-
named Chang with whom the unfortunate woman and another
female were living in a cubicle at the above address.The murdered woman, Lam Pul-king, who was 27 years of age and who followed the profession of a seamstress, occupied a cubicle
on the second floor of 86, Portland Street, together with a man named Chang and another woman,
Man Fong, aged 32, a widow.
Chang, whose age was stated to
be 24, was unemployed and a native of Shum Chun.The other parts of the floor were occupied by different families, a
man named Wong Sze, aged 30,
being one of the tenants. He was
the first to discover that anything
was amiss when he was awakened
by Chang leaving his cubicle. Wong
has informed the Police that when Chang was about to leave the
house he was asked where he was going and replied that he would return shortly as he was going to the lavatory.At 2 o'clock in the morning
Wong found that Chang had been
out for an hour without returning, and became suspicious. He went to the cubicle occupied by Chang and the two women and
was shocked to find the younger
of the two females lying dead with
a cord from a kimono tightly secured around her neck. She had obviously been strangled but
it is not known when the ghastly
crime was committed. The other woman, when questioned by the Police, claimed that she had been asleep throughout and had no
notion that anything unusual was happening in the room.Subsequently when the Police arrived on the scene it was reported that a gold bangle and a
gold watch chain had been stolen.

EASTERN RAILWAYTokyo, Apr. 23.
After routing the Kirin
cavalry brigade a body of 8,000
insurgents occupied Sanchaho,
town on the southern branch of the Chinese Eastern Railway.
They destroyed the railway
tracks and telegraph wires, paralysing communications between Harbin and Changchun and
holding up a train, from which they seized some Japanese passengers according to Press reports
to Tokyo.It is also reported that Japanese residents in the neighbouring town of Taolachao have been abducted. On the receipt of this news a Japanese detachment
hastened to the scene.—Reuter.

Fighting on the Railway.

A serious engagement took place yesterday at Imienpo where 7,000 anti-Manchukuo troops
attacked the Japanese garrison,
assisted by field guns. They landed several shells among the Japanese and fierce fighting went on for five hours.With the assistance of their armoured train the Japanese counter-attacked and finally drove
off the Chinese who are reported to have left 30 dead and many wounded. The Japanese casualties are not stated.—Reuter.

LESSON-SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONGKONG"Probation after Death" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in
all Churches of Christ, Scientist,
yesterday.The Golden Text was—"He knoweth the way that I take: when
he hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold." (Job 23:10.)Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible—"Many shall be purified, and made
white, and tried; but the wicked
shall do wickedly: and none of the wicked shall understand; but the wise shall understand. But go thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest, and stand in thy
lot at the end of the days." (Daniel 12:10,13.)The Lesson-Sermon also included
the following passage from
the Christian Science textbook,
"Science and Health, with Key to
the Scriptures," by Mary Baker
Eddy—"Understanding little about
the divine Principle which saves
and heals, mortals get rid of sin,
sickness, and death only in belief.
These errors are not thus really
destroyed, and must therefore cling to mortals until, here or hereafter, they gain the true
understanding of God in the Science which destroys human de-lusions about Him and reveals the grand realities of His allness."

MISSIONARIES BEING WITHDRAWN

The Naval authorities yesterday issued the following statement as to the situation at Amoy:

Situation is quiet, but a little anxiety is beginning to be felt at Amoy because of rumours of intended Communist demonstrations.

Communists are reported to be five miles from Sung Sul, while Communist handbills were distributed last night in Kulangsu.

Reports from up-country are very conflicting.

This message, which bore Saturday's date, was received from H.M.S. Devonshire which is at present stationed at Amoy.

Japanese Reports.

Tokyo, Apr. 23.

Reports to the Navy Office state that 50,000 refugees have poured in to Amoy as a result of the fall of Changchow to the rebels.

The price of foodstuffs in Amoy is soaring and financial confusion has been created by the banks transferring their hoards of silver to Kulangsu.—Reuter.

Missionaries Leave.

Peking, Apr. 23.

Owing to the rebel threat against Tungan, five American missionaries with three children, evacuated Tungan to-day, where General Chang Chen's Chief of Staff, Han Hui-kung, is reorganising the defeated Government troops.

The rebels have captured Chao-wei and probably Kiowei, fifteen miles to the East of Changchow.—Reuter.

BABY THREATENED.

GENE TUNNEY WARNED BY GANGSTERS

New York, Apr. 23.

Gangland is apparently unperturbed by the outcry against the Lindbergh baby kidnapping outrage, as the latest object of their attention is Gene Tunney, ex-heavyweight champion of the world, who has received a note threatening to kidnap his five-months' old son.

Early last month, while the Tunneys were at Bermuda, they were also obliged to seek police protection for their child.

ERECTION OF NEW EDIFICE AT KOWLOON TONG

The ceremony of blessing and laying the foundation stone of St. Theresa's Church (Roman Catholic) which is being erected at the junction of Waterloo and Prince Edward Roads, at Kowloon Tong, was performed on Saturday afternoon by the Bishop, Mgr. H. Valtorta, D.D., in the presence of the clergy of the various Catholic orders in Hongkong, sisters from the local convents and many Catholic residents.

Addressing the gathering after the ceremony, His Lordship expressed joy at being able to lay the foundation stone and, commenting upon the limited accommodation at the Rosary Church, rejoiced in the fact that the new church was going to meet a great and pressing need in Kowloon. The Church would be a landmark and would help to enhance the beauty of the neighbourhood.

That Church, his Lordship said, was a worthy homage to St. Theresa of the Child Jesus, the Little Flower. This new Saint had a providential mission to fulfil, and that was to teach the world, which was at present leading a luxurious life and trying to turn from God, how to love God with the simplicity of a child, with the certainty that this loving Father of ours would one day take us to heaven.

Personally, he said, he was greatly indebted to St. Theresa. When he was made Bishop, he was sent a relic of the Saint and ever since then St. Theresa had become the Patroness of this Mission. She had helped him when in personal danger and she had also helped the Mission.

Church Survives.

At Hoifung, during the Communist troubles, many villages were sacked, over 200 persons killed, and Churches and Convents pillaged and burned. His Lordship was in one Catholic village which numbered about 500 strong. When the Communists came, it was a question of deciding either to go or to resist. The latter course was a hopeless one, so they evacuated.

Before leaving, the Bishop put a picture of St. Theresa in the foundation of the Church, and right through the Communist reign of terror in Hoifung, that Church and that village remained unharmed and not a single villager was killed. A bomb did burst at the feet of a Christian of the village, but he was absolutely unharmed. In another case a bomb burst in the hands of a Christian and a fragment entered his eye, but he did not lose his sight, and a week later the fragment came out on its own.

After thanking those who had contributed towards the building fund, Bishop Valtorta appealed for further assistance and expressed a wish to see a Hongkong born Catholic become a priest.

ST. GEORGE'S DAY CELEBRATED.

SOCIETY'S "AT HOME" AT PENINSULA HOTEL.

An informal "at home" was held at the Peninsula Hotel on Saturday night by the Society of St. George, Hongkong, as a celebration of St. George's Day. Dancing was indulged in until the early hours and supper was served from a buffet in the dining room.

Those present numbered about 400 and included His Excellency the Governor and Lady Peel, who were accompanied by Mr. C. W. A. Telford and Captain T. A. H. Colman, the Chief Justice (Sir Joseph Kemp), the Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern, Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster, K.C., Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton, Hon. Mr. T. H. King and Mrs. King, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Robertson, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. G. Bird, Hon. Mr. H. T. and Mrs. Cressy, Mr. and Mrs. E. Cock, and many others.

Congratulatory telegrams were received from other kindred Societies in various places.

Simplicity was the keynote of the Cenotaph ceremony on Saturday morning when wreaths were laid at the foot of the monument to commemorate the anniversary of St. George, the patron saint of England.

In the absence of the President of local St. George's Society, the Vice-President, Mr. C. Bulmer Johnson, assisted by the immediate past President, Mr. E. Cock, carried the first wreath forward. Both stepped back after placing it in position and stood bareheaded. Capt. T. A. H. Colman, A.D.C. to H.E. the Governor, Sir William Peel, next placed His Excellency's wreath to the right of the Society's wreath.

Among those present were Sir Henry Pollock, the Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster, the Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton, Mr. C. Bulmer-Johnson, Colonel T. A. Robertson, Capt. T. A. H. Colman, A.D.C., Mr. E. Cock, Mr. W. A. Dowley, Mr. J. D. Danby, Mr. A. Sommerfeldt, Mr. F. C. Hall and Mr. P. S. Cressy.

The recent population census of the Argentine Republic shows an increase of nearly half a million on the estimated figures for January 1, 1929. The population is now 11,658,717. Buenos Aires contains 2,195,200 people.

He pointed out that local born men had the advantage of knowing the language of the people and of being used to the climate. "Those present were the guests at a tea party given by members of the Little Flower Club, whose Patron Saint is St. Theresa.
